Transmission Concern To Open Factory Here

75-100 To Be Employed at Marion Plant

New Industry To Buy Building Owned by Former Transit Firm

Preliminary negotiations in a transaction that will bring a new industry to Marion were completed Tuesday afternoon. The new company is The Transmission Specialty Co. and will be located in the structure which was formerly the garage and storage building of the Marion Rapid Transit Co.

Between 75 and 100 men and women will be employed in the new plant which will manufacture heavy duty special transmissions and axles. These will be used primarily for LeRoi-Transo truck mixers and front end loaders.

Users at Dunkirk

The LeRoi factory is now located in Dunkirk, O. Closeness of the two cities was cited by company officials as one of the main reasons for bringing the Transmission Specialty Co. to Marion.

The factory will be located on W. Center St. at the intersection of the New York Central Railroad tracks. The building contains an area of 10,000 square feet. Some minor alterations are needed before the plant can assume operations.

Headquarters for the company are now officially located in Kenton, but will be moved to Marion when the factory is opened. An announcement of the date of opening will be made in the near future.

C of C Aids Company

Negotiations have been carried on with the Chamber of Commerce and the owners of the building for several weeks. Full scale operations at the plant are expected to begin shortly after the opening of the factory.

The new industry will be the only one of its type in Marion. Hugh E. Webster, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said no competition would be given to any of the presently-existing industries in the cities.

No Amount Disclosed

The building which will house the new factory was purchased from Ray Maag, Leo J. Hill, Fred Maag and Sheldon N. Dodds. The purchase price was not revealed.

Hiring of employes to work in the new plant will begin as soon as final negotiations have been completed. Several more minor details must be worked out before the transfer becomes final.

The Oatis Story—No. 3

Use of Routine Record Books Turned by Reds Into Military Spy Case

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
(Copyright 1953 by The Associated Press)

I walked the floor furiously and called myself a fool.

It was Tuesday, April 24, 1951, and I was in a Prague office of the Czechoslovak Communist secret police, who had arrested me the day before.

On a desk lay several little black books they had found. These were books I had kept in line with my work as an Associated Press correspondent. One had names and telephone numbers of friends in Prague—foreign diplomats and Czechoslovak citizens. Others contained notes of information I had obtained from some of these people—news and background.

I had kept the books almost by force of habit. In the United States and Britain, where I had worked before going to Prague 10 months before, it may have been a good habit. In Czechoslovakia, it certainly was not.

Because now, two police interpreters—one with curly black hair and one with hardly any hair at all—sat in that office in a big quiet building on narrow Bartholomew St. and asked me questions about those books—those notes, and those names. That was why I berated myself.

The police called me a spy. I regarded myself rather as a legitimate journalist. But I knew they objected to my gathering news from other than official sources. If I was on the spot for doing that, the people who gave me such news were on the spot, too.

I OWED IT TO my news sources to protect them. That was a principle of journalism. Reporters in America had gone to jail rather than testify against their informants. But as I compared my lot with theirs, I was dismayed. They had means to defend themselves: legal advice, public opinion and civil-rights guarantees.

I had none of those. I was one man alone against a powerful and ruthless force. I knew the secret police could hold a prisoner for years without charge, without a trial and incommunicado. They could hold him till they got what they wanted out of him. What they wanted out of me, to begin with, was information on my newsgathering.

"We want to know the names of Czechoslovak citizens who gave you unofficial news," said one policeman.

"I can't tell you that," I said.

But I felt utterly helpless. That Tuesday I was questioned till long after midnight.

The interrogation went on all day Wednesday, too.

That night, the man picked up my address book and said "Which of these people gave you unofficial news?"

"I can't tell you."

"Why not?"

"Journalistic ethics."

"If you don't tell us which ones," the man threatened, "we will arrest them all."

—:—

ON THE FACE of it, it looked this way. If I gave in, there was a chance some people would get hurt. If I did not, there was the certainty that more people would be

I said, "All right, I'll tell you."

I gave the interpreter a list of names and, with each name, the class of data I had got from that person—such things as "Prague rumors" and "Brno rumors."

"Will this get them into trouble?" I asked.

"Why should it?" he said. "Why, it's nothing—'Prague rumors,' 'Brno rumors.'"

Another interpreter also sought to soothe my anxiety:

"Do you think we are stupid? Do you think we would arrest all those people? Do you think we want to make enemies? There are many people we do not arrest. We just call them in and say, 'Look, don't be stupid.'"

I LET MYSELF be lulled by these words—as I also let myself be lulled by that same man's sly suggestion that, once I had given the police what they wanted, they would expel me from the country.

That night, I signed my first confession.

In my notes was a list of places in and near Prague reported to be the actual or projected sites of military installations.

I had got this list from Lt. Col. George L. Atwood, U. S. military attache, when I had gone to him to check a report from another diplomat along the same line.

When the police learned all this, they laid a typewritten sheet before me to sign. It read:

"1. I gathered military information on the territory of the Czechoslovak republic.

"2. I committed espionage on the territory of the Czechoslovak republic."

I refused to sign the paper till I had been made familiar with the law on espionage. I wanted to be sure that gathering information, in itself, constituted espionage. And I wanted to know what penalty my signature would lay me open to.

The bald-headed interpreter pulled a Czech legal pamphlet from a file and read me a few paragraphs in English.

Whether he garbled the citations or whether I misunderstood him, I got the idea that the collection of ANY military information in Czechoslovakia is a type of espionage punishable by three months to three years in prison. (Actually, the law deals with SECRET military information.)

I had been made to feel that

Wife, Children of Missing Envoy Vanish in Europe

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—Police said today the American-born wife and three children of the missing British diplomat Donald MacLean have disappeared. They have not been seen since Friday.

Britain has called officially for a Europe-wide search for the family of the man who is believed to have skipped behind the Iron Curtain.

May Be with Husband

In London, William Riddale, British foreign office press officer, said it was a "matter of speculation as to whether Mrs. MacLean had left to join her husband, who vanished in May, 1951.

Mrs. MacLean, 37, a native of Chicago, and the three MacLean children — two boys, 9 and 7, and a 2-year-old daughter — had been living here with her mother, Mrs Melinda Dunbar, for some months

Ridsdale told a crowded London news conference two British security men were rushed to Geneva the moment Whitehall got word Monday that the woman and her children had vanished without a trace.

Geneva police chief Charles Knecht said Mrs. MacLean and the children left home Friday by car for a three-day outing with friends near Montreaux and had not returned. Mrs. Dunbar did not report the family missing until they failed to return after the weekend.

Accident Ruled Out

Immediate consultations between British authorities and the Geneva police ruled out the possibility Mrs. MacLean was involved in an auto accident.

The British at once called upon the police of Italy, Austria, West Germany and France — countries adjoining Switzerland—to search for the missing family.

MacLean and Guy Burgess, another British diplomat, crossed from England to France in 1951,

U.S. Looking For Second U.N. Victory

Soviets Lose on Red China Issue, May Be Outvoted on Korea

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., (AP)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky was expected to make a determined effort today to get the U. N. Assembly to reconsider its decision barring so-called neutrals from the Korean peace conference.

The United States was ready to make just as determined a bid to persuade the U. N. to stand pat on the action it took last month to limit the parley to the countries which fought under the U. N. banner and those willing to line up on the Communist side.

West Believed in Control

Western diplomats believed they had as good a chance to defeat Russia on the Korean question as they did yesterday, when they won a one-sided victory on the question of seating Red China in the U. N.

At the opening meeting of its eighth annual session, the 60-nation general assembly quickly voted 44 10, with two abstentions, to defer any further consideration of Chinese representation the rest of 1953. Only the five Soviet bloc countries, and India, Indonesia, Yugoslavia, Norway and Sweden voted against the postponement.

The Assembly's other major action at the session opening was the election of Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, sister of India's Prime Minister Nehru, as its president.

Soviet Tactics Uncertain

The Korean question was scheduled to come up this afternoon at a meeting of the assembly's powerful 15-nation steering committee. It was not clear, however, just how Vishinsky would approach the problem.

Red China's foreign minister Chou En-lai has demanded that reconsideration of plans for the peace conference be put on the Assembly's agenda as a new item, but the Korean problem already is on the agenda, apparently making such a move unnecessary.

At any rate, Vishinsky was expected to demand that the steering committee recommend top priority for this issue in the 60-nation political committee, where detailed discussion will take place eventually.

Fear Stalemate

Some delegates privately expressed fears the new Communist move to reopen the debate on the peace parley might lead to a stalemate which would delay indefinitely the convention of the conference

The retiring president of the Assembly, Lester B. Pearson of Canada, said at the opening meeting yesterday the U. N. has decided on its representatives and the next step was up to the Communists.

He warned that failure of the conference might have far-reaching "results of the wrong kind."

Korean POW's Riot Against Red Observers

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Anti-Communist North Korean and Chinese prisoners demonstrated violently today against Communist observers at their compounds in the demilitarized zone.

Prisoners in all five stockades hurled stones and screamed, "Kill them, kill the Communists," as Red observer teams drove off for their headquarters at Kaesong, a spokesman for the Indian command said. Indian troops guard the prisoners.

It was the first outbreak since the Indians took added precautions to guard against violence two days ago. At that time they stretched canvas across the bared wire fences in front of the compounds and moved the observers farther back from the stockades.

The Indian spokesman also said four more North Koreans have changed their minds about repatriation and asked to be returned to their homes. This makes 13 North Koreans and 1 Chinese who have made the switch.

The U. N. command Wednesday delivered to Indian custody about 2,000 North Koreans who refused repatriation and said 2,000 Chinese would be handed over Thursday.

Spanish Ship Springs Leak in Mid-Atlantic

HALIFAX, N. S. (AP)—Mid-ocean repairs were rushed today on the 3,744-ton Spanish freighter Marte with the U. S. Coast Guard cutter Yakutat standing by to lend aid.

The cutter said the Marte, reported sinking yesterday 560 miles southeast of St. Johns, Nfld., was in no immediate danger. The freighter, with a crew of 38 aboard, was enroute from Canada to Spain with a cargo of wheat when she began shipping water through a hole at the waterline.

Fog-Bound American Airlines Convair Hits 2 Towers Near Port

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—An American Airlines plane carried its 25 passengers and three crew members to a fiery death today when it struck two radio towers and crashed near Albany Airport.

The two-engined Convair, enroute from Boston to Chicago, was circling over the airport area, waiting for runway ground fog to clear, when the crash occurred.

The plane came down at a 45-degree angle. It struck and damaged slightly two 365-foot towers of Albany radio station WPTR.

The plane landed in a small lot surrounded by trees and exploded immediately. Two or three small explosions occurred shortly afterward.

About a dozen passengers were thrown clear of the flaming wreckage. Many of the bodies were scorched. The other bodies were found inside the wreckage. All were horribly burned, some seemingly beyond recognition.

The accident scene is about eight miles west of Albany and six miles east of the Schenectady city line.

The air line office at Chicago listed these crew members:

Capt. James W. Stentz, Highland Park, Ill.

1st Officer William J. Schanken, Chicago.

Stewardess Janice Thornquist, Duluth, Minn.

Lawrence N. Gregory, 37, who lives in a house trailer close to the scene, said that immediately after the crash the Convair was "a mountain of flame."

The plane was waiting for clearance from the Albany airport control tower 3½ miles away. Morning fog had shrouded the runways.

John W. Hodd, 23, an ex-Navy pilot who lived nearby, said he heard the engine cut out and then roar as if the pilot had "gunned it."

Hodd said that when he saw the crash he ran to the door of the plane and tried to open it but was driven back by the flames.

Another witness, Mrs. Alice

Adlai Says U.S. Should Seize Cold War Initiative

CHICAGO (AP)—Eisenhower administration officials were silent today on a proposal by Adlai E. Stevenson that the United States seize the cold war initiative by offering Russia a double-dyed non-aggression pact and a chance to agree on disarmament.

Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic nominee, told a cheering throng of Democrats who overflowed Chicago's 3,650-seat Civic Opera House last night that "the door to the conference room is the door to peace."

Lays Down Challenge

The former Illinois governor laid down—with the backing of former President Truman, Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) and other party leaders—a challenge to President Eisenhower to "think afresh" about offering the Soviets "durable assurances of non-aggression."

If Russia puts impossible conditions on the acceptance of any non-aggression guarantee or declines to participate in an effective disarmament plan, Stevenson said this would saddle on to Moscow the blame for continuance of the cold war.

There was no immediate reaction from Eisenhower's summer headquarters in Denver, the United Nations delegation in New York or official circles in Washington to the Democratic leader's suggestion.

Bid for Talks

In an interview, Sparkman interpreted Stevenson's statements—made in the form of a televised and radio report to the nation on his recent 26-nation world tour—as "a challenge to Russia to sit down with us at the conference table."

Sparkman, the 1952 Democratic vice presidential nominee, said he and Stevenson feel the Eisenhower administration has not been active enough in countering Moscow's "peace offensive."

"We feel that the United States has not been contering sufficiently the moves which make Russia appear to a large segment of the world as the great advocate of peace," Sparkman declared. "We believe that this peace offensive must be met by action, not just by words."

Raps Negative Attitude

Stevenson told the nation that in an era where "things are better" or the free world in Europe and "there is hope in the air," the United Sates cannot afford to be "reluctant to enter" any peace-promising conference.

"If the Soviet Union rejects assurances of non-aggression, if the Red Army will not withdraw behind its borders, if an Austrian peace treaty and German unification are impossible except on the Soviet's terms, then we will at least have cleared the air," he declared.

Ike Not To Comment

Stevenson's proposals paralleled in some respects those made by Eisenhower last April 16 when the President demanded that Russia show by deeds, and not words, the good faith of its peace feelers.

At the summer White House in Denver, Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said President Eisenhower would have no comment on Stevenson's speech.

Stevenson wound up a two-day Democratic conference here with his televised speech, billed as entirely "non-partisan."

It was a partisan crowd, however, which stopped him short in the middle of a sentence with thunderous applause when he mentioned the name of former President Truman.

Stevenson spoke after Democrats had put in cold storage until 1956 an incipient row about their national convention's so-called loyal-

Grunewald Jailed As Parole Violator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry W. (The Dutchman) Grunewald, erstwhile Washington wire-puller, was jailed today as a parole violator. The judge turned down a tearful plea by his wife that he be spared from imprisonment.

U. S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff ruled the long-time Washington "mystery man" must serve three months. He was under conviction of contempt of Congress for refusing to answer questions of tax scandal investigators.

The hearing grew out of an episode in Jersey City, N. J., last month. Grunewald and Mrs. Ann Anderson 46, were found semi-conscious in a gas-filled apartment there.

A Jersey City magistrate subsequently acquitted Grunewald and Mrs. Anderson of disorderly charges.

Impellitteri Loses To Robert Wagner Jr., Farley Faction Out

NEW YORK (AP)—The New Deal wing of the Democratic party in New York administered a resounding defeat to the conservative branch in scoring a near clean sweep of city primary elections yesterday.

Manhattan Borough President Robert F. Wagner Jr. rolled up almost a 2 to 1 margin over incumbent Vincent R. Impellitteri for the nomination for mayor.

Wagner's candidates also won nomination in the two contests for other city-wide offices and in three of four contested races for nomination as borough president.

With returns totaled from 4,260 of the city's 4,392 election districts, Wagner led Impellitteri by 335,413 to 176,003.

The election represented a major triumph for such nationally known Democrats as Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., Sen. Herbert Lehman and Averell Harriman, former mutual security director.

The outcome appeared to curb

Two Report Trouble

Drivers of Antique Cars Take Break in Marion

First of the Glidden Tour Caravan, the procession of 335 antique autos now on the second lap of the Cleveland - Columbus - Detroit trip, chugged down Marion's Main St. about 7:30 this morning.

The procession left Columbus at 5 a.m. today on Route 23 and expects to end the second lap of the trip in Toledo today. The cavalcade, a 150th birthday salute to Ohio, is scheduled to reach its destination, Detroit, on Thursday night. It left Cleveland Tuesday morning and arrived in time for a parade through the capital last night.

Woman Serves

Arriving in pairs or trios, most of the oldtimers stopped at a filling station, at the south edge of Marion, one of the official stops, for "refills." While the cars were being serviced, a kind - hearted Marion woman, Mrs. Robert Krebs, who lives across Delaware Ave. from the station, offered coffee to the drivers.

Early reports revealed that there had been two break-downs by the time the cars reached the immediate Marion area this morning. The first, a minor repair, was a broken fan belt. The repair was made at the filling station at the south edge of the city.

Patrols Highway

Patrolling the highway between Delaware and Marion this morning were Tom Kirwin and Horace Taber, ready to offer assistance to any of the autos which might get stranded. John Matthews was stationed at the filling station where major repairs could be made.

The 280-mile tour of Ohio is being made by some 92 different makes of cars, with James Melton, famed opera star, leading the parade in a 1907 model. Some 23 different states and Canada are represented in the tour. Two-thirds of the cars were made before 1915 and all but 25 are American-manufactured.

Big Air Force Bombers Test U.S. Defenses

MITCHELL FIELD AIR FORCE BASE, N. Y. (AP)—Heavy Air Force bombers, posing as "enemy attackers," sought to ride scrambled broadcasting beams to American cities early today in the first National Civil Defense test of Conelrad.

Experts of Civil Defense, the Federal Communications commission and the Air Force appeared confident the planes were thwarted by Conelrad, the radio operation designed to block any possible enemy use of broadcasting beams to lead bombers or guided missiles to American cities.

Held During Night

The test was conducted between 1:30 a.m. and 4:30 a.m., local time. Air Force fliers on the East Coast finished their missions, flying from far out at sea, just about the time the test was starting in the Far West.

Newsmen were taken up over this Long Island base in an Air Force transport and had an airman's view of the test. The reporters heard the garbled radio reception, making it impossible to identify local radio stations, and saw the radio compass direction finder in the cockpit waver uselessly.

Thousands Take Part

From Hamilton Field, Calif., another air force plane was scheduled to carry a second group of reporters aloft.

Thousands of FCC observers and civil defense personnel took part in the test, spokesmen said. The Professional Hunter Organizes Safari

NEW YORK (AP)—Does your living room need a fresh decorative touch—say, a mounted gazelle over the fireplace or a cozy stuffed rhinoceros charging out of the book shelves?

Well, I've got the facts and figures on how you get them.

The statistics were supplied by Frank "Bunny" Allen, a professional hunter, and his wife, Muriel, who have found brightest Broadway noisier and less comfortable than darkest Africa.

They came here for a visit after organizing a six-month safari during which M—G—M filmed "Mogambo," which is reported to be a native word for "the greatest" or "passion." So if you see "Mogambo" and don't think it is truly Mogambo the M—G—M people will fly into a terrible Mogambo.

"It was three times the size of any other African safari," said Bunny "I doubt if there will ever be another like it. At one time we had 500 natives in camp."

This wall of loyal flesh protected Clark Gable, Ava Gardner and the other Hollywood stars from the rude gazes of all but the very boldest jungle beasts.

However, if you plan to go to Africa merely to collect a few old animal heads, you can get by nicely with a small platoon of natives rather than a battalion.

"The average motorized safari for two or three men requires only 15 natives, lasts a month and costs about $3,000," said Bunny.

Of course, there are a few "extras." An overall license, permitting you to swat everything from a tsetse fly to an elephant, costs $400. And naturally you'll have to buy your own cigarets and Scotch whisky. But Scotch sells for less on the African Veldt than it does at your liquor store at home.

Bunny uses the money he earns on safaris to stock a 500-acre farm on the slopes of Mt. Kenya with pure-bred Jersey dairy cows. Mrs Allen plans the safaris.

"It is like preparing a small army for a small war," she said. "There are so many details. You know you don't have to rough it any more.

"After a day in the bush, you come back to a hot tub, change into pajamas, have a caviar canape, if you choose, and a highball or two before dinner. The natives are wonderful cooks and can prepare almost any dish you have at home."

Certainly there is ice for the highballs. You wouldn't go into the heart of Africa today without a refrigerator, would you?

Bunny is now in his 20th yea as a safari leader, and never lost a passenger. He is one of only 19 full-fledged professional hunters. This uncrowded profession also has only about 24 apprentices, who must spend at least two years on safaris before they can lead one themselves.

"If you lose a client, you lose your profession," said Bunny crisply. "The clients all have one thing in common—they like to go home alive."

Ninety per cent of the clientele today are Americans, and the No. 1 weapon of many now is the camera rather than the gun.

"Most hunters go for the poor lion," said Bunny ruefully. "It has sex appeal. But a great many are interested only in bagging an elephant. I have observed that a very short man is often very keen on getting a very big elephant."

You locate an elephant by its tummy rumbling, a sound that Allen says "will carry for a half mile if the wind is right."

Both Bunny and his wife hate to see lions killed, as the big cats are their favorite animals. Bunny brings live chickens along on the safari for food, but, as his wife remarked, "They usually become his pets, so he brings them back.

"I'm proud of Bunny. He's not only a fine hunter. He's kind, gentle and modest. He loves flowers, trees and rivers."

Mrs. Allen gave one final tip to would-be hunters:

"Do bring along a sweater, as it is often cool in the evenings. But you never have to wear evening clothes—never. Of course, some people do."

So just pack your tux or leave it behind, as you choose. There is still a touch of informality in Africa. You don't have to dress up to kill an elephant.

NOW THE 'DUST BOMB'. Another atomic weapon—the "dust bomb" — may someday join man's military arsenal, according to Dr. Wallace Fuller, a University of Arizona bio-chemist serving with the Atomic Energy commission. Dr. Fuller said the new force, produced from radio-active strontium, could "cripple the food supply" of whole nations.

Nehru Raps Red 'Goodwill' Tours

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru took a thinly-veiled swipe today at Communist-financed "goodwill" delegations from India to Red China and the Soviet Union.

Replying to questions why the government rejected some passport applications, even from members of parliament, Nehru told parliament:

"There is something wrong and undignified in large numbers of people going abroad at the expense of another country."

The government also withholds passports, the prime minister added, "if a person is going to run down his own country in another country."

Asks Talks With Soviets

Disarmament Question Reopened by Stevenson

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson are agreed on wanting disarmament talks with the Russians but not, it seems, on how or when

Eisenhower, in his April 16 speech to the American Society of Newspaper Editors told the Russians that before such talks could begin he wanted them to show by deeds they had goodwill

Stevenson in his Radio-TV report to the nation last night on his world tour laid down no such terms but, apparently, would like to see disarmament discussions get started as soon as possible

Efforts by this country in the late 1940's to get Russia to agree on a disarmament plan got nowhere The Russians balked at the kind of inspection this country wanted made everywhere to prevent cheating

The problem was tackled by the United Nations but has been frozen in a U N. icebox for years

Stevenson said, once more I think, we should fix our sights high again as we did in 1947 and resume the initiative in re-exploring the possibility of disarmament"

What makes Stevenson think the Russians, who stood like stone against American attempts at disarmament in the past, would be likely to act any differently now?

For one thing, Stevenson said, there is the hydrogen bomb which emphasizes more than ever the need for disarmament since the alternative is even heavier armament and "more frightening weapons."

And besides he indicated, there have been some events which may have affected Russian thinking in recent years, Stalin's death revolts in the satellites the realization that Russian threats had driven the West into big rearmament and that the West as it showed in Korea, would meet force with force

Stevenson did not suggest this country disarm while seeking agreement with Russia or world disarmament On the contrary he expressed fear this country might be getting too careless about rearming enough

In his April speech Eisenhower called upon the Communists to show their good intentions in various ways A Korean armistice a peace conference on Korea, an end to Communist attacks on Indochina an Austrian peace treaty, a united Germany and 'full independence" of the East European nations

Of the points he listed, progress has been made in only two There is a Korean armistice and the Korean peace conference is scheduled to open in late October, if the Communists don't delay it

Eisenhower didn't say every condition he laid down had to be met, signed, sealed and finished before he'd consider talking disarmament with the Russians again But he did say he wanted some progress made.

"As progress in all these areas strengthens world trust," he said, 'we could proceed concurrently with the next great work—the reduction of the burden of armaments weighing upon the world To this end we would welcome and enter into the most solemn agreements"

Stevenson did not mention this Eisenhower speech or the President's terms And if he thought the President was showing too much inflexibility in the present world situation, he did not say that, either.

But all through his speech he cautioned the administration not to be too 'inflexible" in its foreign policy.

Fight To Lift Restrictions On Gas Heating Reopens

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Spokesmen from Northern and Southern Ohio yesterday opened the semi-annual attack on the state's restriction on gas furnace installations

And two Lorain city councilmen took time out from their pleas to the state utilities commission to level off at a gas company which they said broke promises to the city and is "stunting its growth"

It was the initial round in the twice-a-year hearings to determine whether or not the commission will keep present restrictions on new gas furnaces installations

Leading the fight to loose the bars were John A. Repko and Edward Osko, Lorain councilmen

They said their city is 'desperate' and "up in arms"

"We have quite a few hardship cases now," Osko said, 'and Korean War veterans want to build homes with gas furnaces'

The councilmen teamed up on a blast at Ohio Feul Gas Co which serves 361 communities in 49 counties They said the company promises Lorain more gas if it could charge higher rates

"They got the new gas rate but we didn't get more gas," Osko and Repko said Repko continued "The . . company is responsible for stunting the growth of Lorain by refusing to supply more gas"

John Friedman of the Cincinnati Home Builders Assn, and Forrest Archer, Troy home builder, lent their testimony to the plea They said there is a pressing need for lower income housing and it is more expensive to put in oil furnaces than gas units

Forces opposed to loosening restrictions got in their licks too

Paul M Walton, chief engineer of the National Gas & Oil Corp and the Newark Consumers Gas Co said his companies won't be able to serve their present customers this winter without additional gas from Texas Eastern. Texas Eastern boosted the supply last winter

L E Heckman an assistant vice president of the Columbia Gas System, said

"Next winter our gas supply will be short The following winter we will be in a better position to fulfill our obligations to all our customers"

The utilities commission formula for gas furnace installation is in the form of an order to Ohio Fuel, a Columbia subsidiary It calls for Ohio Fuel to install as many new furnaces in Ohio as all other Columbia subsidiaries install outside Ohio

The hearing is expected to continue through Thursday

Voices Raised at Chicago

Democratic Women Seek Share in Policy-Making

By RUTH COWAN

CHICAGO (AP)—Storm warnings are flying today at the Democratic national political "harmony" rally.

There are signs those masculine pronouncements of peace may be broken by some sharp feminine dissent.

Several national committeewomen say they have a few questions they intend to bring up when the national committee meets today.

"I have a few things I intend to get off my chest," said Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller, Pennsylvania national committeewoman.

It is mainly over that new policy of integration of women into National Committee activities at headquarters in Washington, D.C.

This policy, announced early this year by Chairman Stephen Mitchell, in effect abolishes the national committee's 31-year-old women's division.

Mitchell said "Democratic women are being given the opportunity to achieve the goal they have sought ever since they won suffrage—that is, to have equal status with men in party work."

Mrs. Miller as a suffragette worked to help women get the vote and she is an outspoken advocate of equal rights.

"But what I've seen of the operation of this integration policy so far isn't equal rights," said Mrs. Miller.

The integration policy has been a topic of conversation among women. Many want more information. Some feel Mitchell should have consulted with national committeewomen before taking the step.

Mrs. Martha Ragland, Tennessee committeewoman, recently sent letters to her fellow committeewomen asking their opinion of the move. Early replies indicate varied opinions.

There is a revival of rumors that Mrs. India Edwards, national committee vice chairman and director of the erstwhile women's division, was resigning.

But these rumors are discounted by her close friends. Mrs. Edwards is elected by the national committee and her term runs until 1956.

A special committee, named by Mitchell, has been reviewing rules and by-laws of the national committee.

Any move to change the rule under which a woman vice chairman is elected instead of appointed would be certain to run into trouble.

'Nagging' Not Love, Circuit Judge Rules

CHICAGO (AP)—Nagging by a wife is not a manifestation of love, Circuit Judge Julius H. Miner ruled yesterday.

In so ruling, Judge Miner said he had been unable to effect a reconciliation between Mrs. Cecelia Grutter, 29, and her husband, Karl Grutter, 39. Mrs. Grutter is seeking a separate maintenance.

After Judge Miner expressed the opinion Mrs. Grutter's nagging had killed her husband's love, her attorney, Norman Becker said. "nagging is one form of love; she didn't want to lose him."

The judge disagreed. He allowed Mrs. Grutter $65 a week support money pending trial of her suit

'Ringrose Circus' Realizes $20,000

BALTIMORE (AP)—The "Ringrose Circus" was in town yesterday. It was worth $20,000 to investors in a credit union for social security workers here.

The circus title was hung on the auction of possessions of Mrs. Naomi Martman Ringrose by a policeman on the grounds of her lavishly furnished home. Mrs. Ringrose was convicted of embezzling an estimated $350,000 from the credit union. The auction returned about $20,000 of that amount. Mrs. Ringrose is serving a five-year prison term.

Items auctioned included a $1,700 mink cape which went for $630; a $400 German camera which brought $225, and a baby grand piano which sold for $550.

Getting Out of Jail To Cost Man Plenty

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP)—Five dollars a week for almost six years. That is how Charles J. Farley, 34, of Lowell, Mass., father of two small children, has agreed to settle a personal injury suit in order to get out of jail.

Imprisoned since June 19 in Washington County Jail because he could not post bail—at first fixed as $29,500 and later cut to $4,000—he was released yesterday after signing the settlement agreement.

Farley came here to attend a lobster dinner and was involved in an accident. He went to jail when Rildo Bianchi and his mother, Mrs. Laura Bianchi, both of Barre, sued him for $29,500 for personal injury.

Under the agreement, he will pay the Bianchis $1,500 in $5 weekly installments.

Turnabout Is Fair Play, Cyclist Believes

BOGOTA, N. J. (AP) — John W. Schneider of Teaneck believes that turnabout is fair play.

While out riding his motorcycle yesterday, he collided with a police car.

Patrolman Henry J. Smith handed Schneider a ticket for driving without a permit, speeding and failing to give the right of way.

So what does Schneider do but sign a complaint against Smith for careless driving.

Pet Cat Left $2,000 By Illinois Widow

FARMER CITY, Ill. (AP)—An elderly widow willed $2,000 of her $190,000 estate to her pet cat. The will of Mrs. Lena Maude Rankin, filed for probate in Dewitt County Court at Clinton yesterday, stipulated that what's left when the cat dies goes equally to the American Cancer Society and the Illinois Heart Association.

Mrs. Rankin, in her 70s, was found dead in her home Aug. 31. Her cat lay on the bed beside her body. She had no immediate relatives.

Among the will's larger bequests were $45,000 to the University of Illinois and $10,000 to the Palmer School of Chiropractic in Davenport, Iowa.

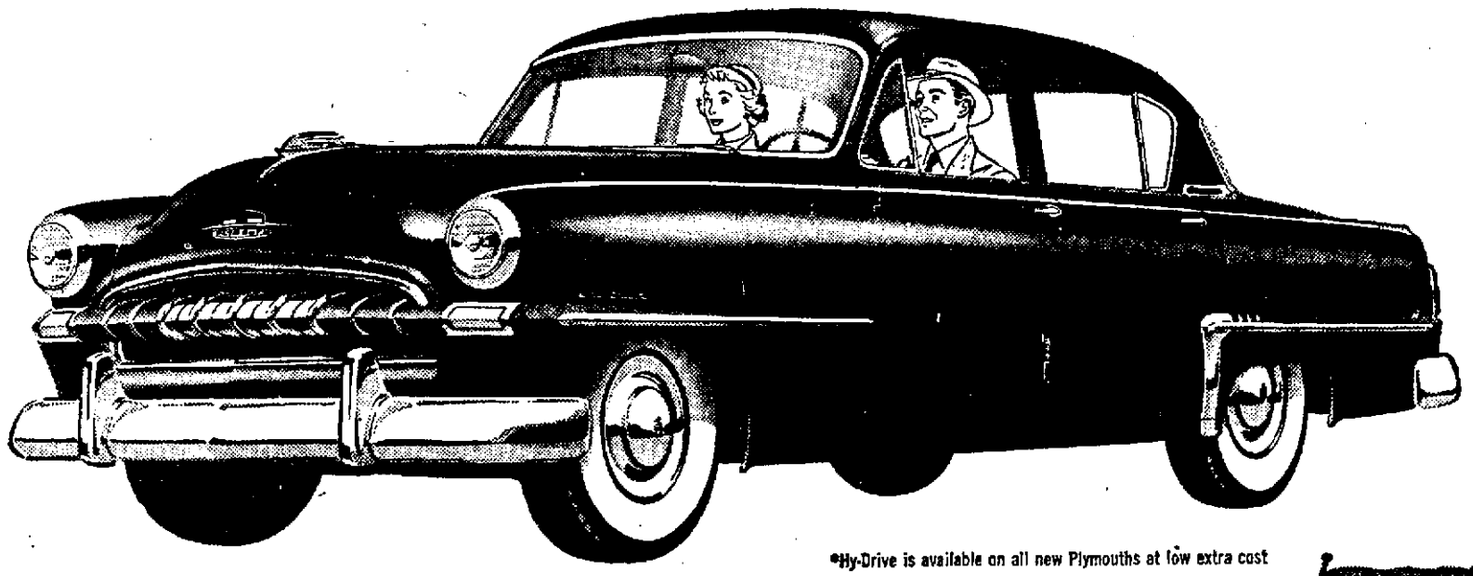
"It saves me around 2 gallons of gas each day," says this rural mail carrier
"Vic" Hammer is a rural mail carrier out of Appleton, Wisconsin. He drives the same route every day. He has 400 boxes, which means lots of starting and stopping. He used to use between 5 and 6 gallons each day.
Recently, Mr. Hammer purchased a new 1953 Plymouth equipped with Hy-Drive*. He is now using between 3½ and 4 gallons of gas a day on his route.
"I think this is an amazing performance," Mr. Hammer says. "I'm saving around 2 gallons of gas for the route each day. And it's 100 per cent easier serving the route now that I no longer have to shift gears."


*Hy-Drive is available on all new Plymouths at low extra cost

Choosing Sides in U.N.

For better or worse, depending on how you feel about the United Nations, it is being used by the two major powers — the United States and the Soviet Union — to choose up sides in a struggle for influence in Asia.

That is the clear significance of the issue over the countries to be represented in the Korean peace conference. The United States is trying to force India, Paskistan, Burma and Indonesia to make a Hobson's choice between attending as friends of the Soviet Union or not attending at all.

The issue will be pressed anew in the General Assembly session now starting.

The Soviet Union, acting through Communist China, is trying to bring into creation an Asiatic bloc of such magnitude that it would exert more influence over Britain, France and the Netherlands — all with financial interests in Asia — than the United States.

There is this obvious booby trap in the U.N. proceedings — both those of last August and those about to unfold this month: that the U.N. may be blamed by its critics for being the focal point of a world struggle which would be going on in any event.

It is not the fault of the U.N. that Asia is exploding. As Gen. MacArthur pointed out in his now-famous speech before both houses of Congress on April 19, 1950, "Asia's colonial era is now past."

Their Faces Are Familiar

Newsmen in the United States will read the story of William N. Oatis with special interest for a special reason. What happened to Oatis as an Associated Press correspondent in Czechoslovakia under a Communist regime is a preview of what would happen to newsmen under a strong-arm regime anywhere else.

The faces and actions of the pipsqueak terrorists who baited, then sprang the trap which caught Oatis are universally familiar. They are the reason why eternal vigilance is the price of liberty in the United States.

They belong to the sick minds of the mental cripples who would boil to the top of a police state if one were created in America.

A free press here is in continuous contact with people who would jump at a chance to turn the world upside down so their inverted reasoning would come into fashion Having no use for freedom because it runs contrary to their nature, they hate it doubly because it thwarts them in their ambition to become tyrants.

But they never quit trying. They never quit hoping. Within a few days after a strong-arm government had taken over control of public authority in the United States, the William N. Oatis story could be written here.

Legitimate Question

Honest taxpayers are concerned over an announcement that the Bureau of Internal Revenue has halted its door-to-door checkups.

This method had produced some startling results. In New England, out of 8,800 persons asked whether they had filed tax returns, 13 per cent came up with the wrong answer.

In Nebraska, 14 per cent had decided that income taxes were for the other fellow. A checkup in Denver indicated that hundreds of persons and firms listed in the yellow pages of the phone book had decided to skip income taxes

Naturally, the door-to-door method stirred up criticism. Since the loudest squawk came from a Massachusetts representative in Congress, Rep. Philbin, a Democrat, there may be an issue in partisan politics.

But if the issue is whether or not income taxes are solely for those accustomed to pay them and all others should get a free ride, millions of Americans who do pay income taxes are going to wonder why the Bureau of Internal Revenue suddenly has acquired cold feet.

To ask a citizen of the United States whether or not he has filed an income tax return is a legitimate question. If he doesn't give the right answer, his government is entitled to some legitimate doubts about his status under the law.

Memo to Miss Whitton

The lady mayor of Ottawa, Miss Charlotte Whitton, is locked in angry combat with Canadian Prime Minister St Laurent over a matter of amusing interest to us foreigners "south of the border."

The issue between the mayor and the minister is whether or not government functions now centralized in Ottawa should be decentralized. The mayor says Ottawa is entitled to keep them. The minister thinks some of them should be transferred to other Canadian cities.

South of the border there has been strong talk about transferring some functions out of Washington. It has been going on since the memory of living Americans runneth not in the contrary.

But the more talk there is about keeping Washington from being a bureaucratic tail that wags a federated dog, the faster Washington keeps growing. Whatever it is they transfer out of those miasmic swamplands along the Potomac, they never diminish the over-all total of job holders who steam and stew there in the good old summertime and fume and frolic in the good old wintertime.

Classified Information

By David Lawrence

McCarthy Disclosure Violated No Law

Sometimes, in the hurry and pressure under which news is distributed nowadays, there isn't time to look up basic law or constitutional precedents, and an entirely erroneous impression is unintentionally created.

Thus, from one end of the country to the other a few days ago went dispatches implying that Sen. McCarthy had violated some law when he gave to reporters a document which had been marked "restricted" or "classified information" by the Army.

One editorial in an Eastern newspaper went so far as to cry out that the Wisconsin senator had "ignored" the law; that he was not "above the law," and so on.

Actually, if the Wisconsin senator violated any law by publishing the document which the Army had distributed to 100 officers so that they might study the meaning of Communist philosophy, so did the newspapers and press associations which printed what he gave them.

The truth is no law was violated in either case. There is no statute which forbids disclosure or publication of a government document just because somebody in the Army or the Navy or the Air Force happens to mark it as "classified."

A thousand executive orders may be issued by a president ordering government personnel to keep things secret, and government employes can be punished for violating them, but this cannot affect any citizen outside the government who is the recipient of the information.

It so happens that in this case the Army officers were told to study certain phases of communism as an orientation course, and most of the material was taken from published books.

The Army could have also taken a translation of the Koran, the Mohammedan Bible, distributed copies of it and marked it "classified."

No such arbitrary marking of information, however, can in any way restrain a newspaper or periodical from publishing the contents of such documents as are labeled "classified" if they can get hold of them.

The existing law says a crime is committed if anyone in the government "knowingly and willfully communicates, furnishes, transmits, or otherwise makes available to an unauthorized person, or publishes" any "classified information" about the code of cipher system of the United States.

When the foregoing law was up for passage, members of the press pointed out the dangers of a peacetime censorship law and succeeded in narrowing the language to code communication.

It may be questioned whether a peacetime censorship law would be held constitutional.

It is interesting also to note that, even in the case of "classified information" relating to codes, there is a paragraph which says that "nothing in this section shall prohibit the furnishing, upon lawful demand, of information to any regularly constituted committee of the Senate or the House of Representatives of the United States of America, or joint committee thereof."

Perhaps the most significant case that got to the courts occurred when Hugo Black, then a Democratic senator from Alabama conducted his famous committee investigation in 1935 on the subject of "lobbying."

Private messages between an editor and his associates were unlawfully seized from a telegraph office and disclosed by the Federal Communications Commission to an investigator for the committee.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeal held — and the case was never reversed by the Supreme Court — that, even though the information was obtained improperly, the data could be used by the committee.

The court said that "the universal rule, so far as we know it, is that the legislative discretion in the discharge of its constitutional functions, whether rightfully or wrongfully exercised, is not a subject for judicial interference."

Sen. Black evidently didn't suffer for his action because, two years later, he was elevated to the Supreme Court.

Now this correspondent isn't advocating that Sen. McCarthy be given a place on the federal bench, as was once facetiously mentioned in these dispatches, but merely points out that the Wisconsin senator may look upon the 1935 precedent as his justification in parallel circumstances for using whatever information he gathers.

No Sanctuary

By TRUMAN TWILL

The house the jet plane hit after its occupants baled out was a shambles All four occupants had been taken to the hospital. They never knew what hit them when their sanctuary was splintered by tons of death gliding from the sky.

The house the big semi - trailer careened into when it left the road and ran wild after missing the turn was a nest of death. The occupants were sitting there one minute listening to the radio. The next minute they were staring horror-stricken at the grillwork on a multiple-ton juggernaut which had nosed into their living room.

The houses that had been rocked and racked by the explosion in the street would never be the same Nor would their occupants ever be the same, especially those who had sustained burns. One minute they were getting ready to eat supper. The next minute they were dodging with the Reaper.

The car that had been crushed and burned under the over-the-road gas truck was a cinder of unrecognizable form and substance. So was its sole occupant, who had been in a hurry to get home one minute and the next minute had reached home, all the way, forever and ever, amen.

The rubble and wreckage where the hot - rodders skidded off the highway into an unguarded private property would have to be cleared away with a bulldozer before the property could be repaired. A miracle had saved the dazed occupants — an elderly couple — but miracles only happen once.

The baby slept on in its bed when the behemoth of the airlines clipped off the upper half of the house appointed by destiny to be the last thing it hit before it struck terra firma and killed all its two dozen passengers and crew slept on, never to wake again. So did its mother, who had been hanging out the wash and had just reached the back door when the faking monster blotted out the sun.

The trail of the tornado, someone said, looked like there had been a blitz bombing. It looked as horrible as if men had been angry with other men, instead of just a simple freak of nature.

It is not that we intend to be unreasonable about this. But whenever the word is passed that the big boys upstairs are about to scare off our spots with more inside dope on what the H-bomb, the A-bomb, or the cobalt bomb will do to people these routine disasters come to mind.

We are in an age of violent living and dying, an age when men must live in fear not only of other men and wild beasts but sudden and horrible deaths which may spring at them from any quarter at any time.

When the big boys upstairs get to wondering why their fellow citizens don't jitter and shake about nuclear fission, maybe they should look at some pictures of human security wiped out by jet planes, runaway trucks, careening cars, mysterious explosions, big winds and human miscalculations.

Would death and destruction by nuclear fission be any more sudden than being knocked into eternity by a flying manhole cover?

National Pride Is Crux of Trieste Issue

By Martin S. Hayden

WASHINGTON — Revived Italo-Yugoslav shadowboxing over a port city which has essential value for neither country is speeding a State Department search for a compromise to the postwar problem of Trieste.

Diplomats here regard recent verbal blasts between dictator Tito and Italian Premier Giuseppe Pella as more noisy than truly furious. They recognize, however, that, until Trieste is disposed of, the uproar could explode into a war that no one wants over a port that no one needs.

That recognition motivated Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' recent press-conference statement that the United States has an open mind toward all suggested settlements.

It also is behind current American feelers for a compromise that both Tito and Pella can sell two peoples whose emotions over Trieste have run way from practicality.

Every expert who has studied the Trieste problem has agreed on the essential worthlessness to each country of both Trieste, which is under current Anglo-American occupation, and the adjacent "Zone B," which is occupied by Yugoslav troops in a guardianship role

Established originally as an entry port for the old Austro-Hungarian empire. Trieste itself cannot compete with Genoa and other northern ports as an entrance to Italy and does not compare with the new city of Rejeka as an entry to Yugoslavia.

Similarly, "Zone B" is a not-overabundant agricultural area with no commerce except a small fishing industry.

But "Trieste" is a fighting word for the street masses of both Italy and Yugoslavia and an "out" for politicians of Belgrade and Rome when they need a sure-fire vehicle to divert popular attention from other problems.

This time the uproar started with an editorial in a semiofficial Yugoslav paper saying that Tito might have to reconsider his own Trieste policies because of alleged Italian noncooperation.

Pella satisfied Italian nationalists with troop movements at the Trieste border. Tito countered with warnings that, if Italy wanted to fight, Yugoslavia was ready.

Observers here have noted however that both leaders have kept the settlement door ajar. Instead of demanding the whole pie, Tito has suggested that the rural areas go to Yugoslavia and that the port be internationalized.

Pella, in turn, instead of sitting tight on a 1948 Anglo-American-French declaration that the whole area should go to Italy outright, has suggested a plebiscite to see what the Trieste people want.

Dulles' press conference statement that, unlike the law of the Medes and the Persians, the 1948 American position was not intended to stand forever was designed as a recognition that passing time changes policy.

Seven years ago Yugoslavia was part of the Communist orbit to which the United States was unwilling to add any part of Trieste, however economically useless it might be. That situation changed when Tito broke with Moscow.

Now top State Department officials would welcome a compromise that would give "Zone B" to Yugoslavia and the port city to Italy. Diplomats at the working as differentiated from the policy level see that as the only solution supported by a degree of logic

They admit that, economically the port might ultimately fare better under Yugoslavia as an entryway through Yugoslavia to Austria.

But they note that the 250,000 city population is predominantly Italian and, despite memories of business depression during the days of Italian rule between the two world wars, would probably vote again for annexation to Italy

Similarly, the 70,000 residents of rural "Zone B" are predominately Slovene. Observers here believe that, despite the disinclination of many of them to vote themselves under Tito's Communist rule, the majority would take it in preference to rule by the hated Italians.

"There isn't any perfect solution to Trieste," one diplomat summarized, "but, similarly, any solution is a good one if both Tito and Pella can, and will, buy it."

Ghosts and Kisses

By FRANK TRIPP

When a 12-year-old displays desire to kiss somebody it's time to ponder why—and watch his mail. Matthew was frank about it; he'd wanted to kiss Anna for a long time, but never made the grade.

You couldn't hate anyone for wanting to kiss our Anna. She's worth kissing and nobody knows it better than the kids who enjoy her bounty. She became tops with the youngsters like she did with their dogs. She feeds them.

Matt lives next door. His predicament was the jealousy of his playmates, Steve, Teddy and Turk, whose osculatory liberties are based on family connections They are our grandsons and Anna almost brought them up.

Every time Matt tried to achieve his ambition his pals would debar him as an "outsider."

THIS ONLY SERVED to whet Matt's desire, until one morning when alone with his mother he said to her, "I want to kiss Anna."

"Well, why don't you?" she asked.

"The kids won't let me They say I don't belong. Can I?" Matt pleaded.

"Why not?" said his mother. "But you'll have to make arrangements with Anna. No better time than now."

So Matt dashed across the yard to Anna's kitchen where she was preparing breakfast. He presented his case with the speed and precision of a Fuller Brush man, immediately got the green light, and planted, Anna says, the kind of kiss that augurs a busy youth for Matthew.

Unabashed and triumphant, he hurried home to tell his mother, "I kissed her!"

Matt now "belongs," and wallows in an enchanted aura as a Gay Lothario, which makes the others see green Keep your eye on Matthew; he'll get what he wants, and earn it.

KIDS ARE great. Ours and two pals lugged tents up the hill and pitched a weird camp in the woods. When they came down for a swim after the second night, crotchety and hungry quintet of hobos; yet sold on the nomadic life.

Cautious questioning uncovered the single admitted disadvantage. They hadn't slept much for two nights—and looked it. Piecemeal we learned that they "stayed awake telling stories." One guess on what kind. Man, devil nor wild animals could wrest this hardy crew from the arms of Morpheus. It was ghost stories "We ain't afraid of ghosts; they ain't no such thing," they insisted. Oh yeah!

REMEMBER those ghost stories when you were a kid? There was one about the ghost that trailed a whaler, the concoction of an old-time press agent of 60 years ago; the earliest "commercial" that I remember.

In spite of its telltale climax it cost the kids of that day an aggregate of decades of sleep; back when our bedtime stories were goblin shockers; fiendish recitals by our teasing teen - age elders, draped in a bed sheet.

We begged to hear another because, we were afraid to go to sleep. I can believe our kids that brigands and beasts were the least of their midnight worries up on the hill.

THERE HAS to be a corpse in a ghost story. In the whaler yarn it was that of a seaman lost overboard. Every night the drowned sailor's ghost came back to the ship, stalked the deck and forecastle and moaned:

"It floats; it floats!"

Superstitious sailors saw the phantom in the gangways of the creaky old windjammer, saw it soar among the ropes and sails like a giant white bat; heard it screech from the yardarm, then glide aloft, hover, then dive to the surface of the sea, dissolve and disappear beneath the waves, moaning its farewell message: "It floats; it floats!"

After their lost companion had returned for weeks to haunt the tortured crew, a grog-brave tar mustered courage to inquire: "What floats?"

Fom the sullen deep came the sponsor's commercial — "Ivory soap."

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Soon after the lands north of the Greenville treaty line came into the market in 1819, a number of families located in Big Island Township. Among them were the families of Jacob Dickerson, William Britton, Alexander Britton, Samuel Jones, Dr. Alson Norton and Hezekiah Gorton. During the past two years the settlement was joined by Leonard Metz, Newton Messenger, Everett Messenger, Portius Wheeler, David Thompson, Elder David Dudley and Caleb Johnson. At one time the residents of the township hoped to make Big Island the seat of county government.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Mme. Pandit in the Chair?

Mme. Pandit of India may be the presiding officer at the U. N. Security Council all-important sessions opening this week

There is opposition due to the fact she is a sister of Premier Nehru of India and a belief that running the Security Council is a man's work.

However, a woman on that job might not be bad. The men haven't proved themselves exactly entitled to the caption "Genius at Work." They have been mostly drab, not photogenic and too patient in the hassels.

A woman could give color, and her sex is far less inclined to be silent and tolerant in the presence of long-winded gum-beating.

Women are generally anxious to get on with things so they can switch to something more exciting. A bridge party, a theater engagement, a dance or the anxiety to get home and try out a new recipe for lemon chiffon pie can make her extremely impatient with the fellow set to make a two-hour speech.

An appointment with the hair-dresser or milliner could really speed up agenda action, shorten a roll call and even make Vishinsky pipe down.

Sudden news of a one-day sale of autumn gowns could result in some rulings that would limit the length of an entire day's supply of diplomatic blah-blah and yak-yak.

Altogether, taking one consideration with another, we would like to see a woman presiding over the Security Council. It could very well trim the Iron Curtain with a little lace and ribbons.

Never underestimate the power of a diplomat with a Toni, a good facial, lots of charm and a conviction that men can be dreadful bores on their feet, say we.

Sen McCarthy is going to have a sponsored TV program. . . The title could be "Your Joe of Joes," "Swats My Line," "Break the Pink," "Trouble or Nothing" or even "Kukla, Clamup & Joey." . . . His enemies are of course saying that he is out for a high "Snooper" Rating.

A wrist radio will be on the market in a few years, electronics experts now say. . . This will make it easier for man to keep a hand in world events, show business and the general jackpot situation. . We want to see a fellow with a wrist radio, a hearing-aid, and a pair of taped eye-glasses trying to keep all his activities in full swing.

"Durocher came out to meet Furillo, which showed Furillo was not entirely the aggressor," says Warren Giles in acting on that recent baseball shindig. . . Now we get it clear: Furillo was claiming a border violation and Leo was merely acting in the belief it was all a breach of neutrality, requiring action by the United Nations.

VANISHING AMERICANISMS

"It isn't the money; it's the principle."

(Associated Newspapers)

News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO — It was Thursday, Sept. 16, 1943.

Sweating British and American soldiers of the Fifth Army had lashed out at the Germans, driving them back from the Salerno bridgehead and had clinched their foothold in Italy, Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark announced.

First scenes from "Home in Indiana," a technicolor motion picture production based on George Agnew Chamberlain's novel, "The Phantom Filly," were filmed at the Marion County Fairgrounds in connection with the inaugural session of a three-day harness racing program arranged especially for the film production.

Mrs. Marie Redmond of 357 Fahey St. announced the marriage of her daughter, Miss Mary Ellen Fitzwater, to Pfc. Ralph J. Bateman of Camp Breckinridge, Ky., son of Mrs. Pearl Bateman of 133 DeWolfe Ct., which took place Sept. 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay H. Maish of King Ave., received word that their son, Jay H. Maish Jr., had been advanced to the rank of captain in the U. S. Army Air Corps at Ellington Field, Houston, Tex.

Mrs. William Ebertt of Chicago, Ill., had returned to her home after a three-week visit with her sister, Mrs. George Minard of 325 Summit St

Three nationally famous harness drivers — Charles Fleming of Goshen, N. Y., Ben White, who only recently notched his fourth Hambletonian victory with Volo Song, and Harry Fitzpatrick, who was top kick of the biggest stables on the fair grounds—were in the spotlight as Marion prepared for its third race meet of the year.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — It was Saturday, Sept. 16, 1933.

Otto A. Long of Chestnut St., a Railway Express Agency employe, was trapped inside a blazing express car as it sped toward Marion. After riding ten miles in the car, he managed to flag the engineer with a flashlight, hanging out the side door to wave a signal. His hair was singed but he did not suffer serious burns. The fire caused damage estimated between $30,000 and $50,000.

Announcement was made that Dr. Warren G. Harding II, nephew and namesake of President Harding, with his wife and their two children would sail Sept. 30 for Sidney, Australia, where Dr. Harding had accepted a call from the foreign mission board of Seventh Day Adventists to become a member of the denomination's medical staff.

S. H. Keller of Cherry St., city clerk of Marion, left to visit Professor Albert P. Keller and family in Tiffin.

Miss Charlotte Llewellyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Llewellyn of St James St., left to enroll as a freshman at Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware.

Miss Hope Underwood of Caledonia and V. J. Stephan of Cleveland were married in Epworth Memorial Church there

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bolinger of E Church St left for Chicago where they palnned to attend the World's fair.

Businessmen Wonder

Guessing Game Started: Is Recession Under Way?

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The big guessing game today centers around: Has the slump started? How big a recession will it be? What will Washington do about it?

Tremors have been shaking the stock market since mid-August. The temblors have also led many businessmen to ask if the days of "you never had it so good' are ending.

Layoffs in some industries have disturbed others. Over-all employment, however, was never higher. The layoffs, small in ratio to the total employed, have appeared in the auto, farm equipment and electric appliance industries. Some companies, however, that laid off men early in the summer are now rehiring some of them.

Those who take their cue from what stock prices do say a recession is already starting, that the bear market, in fact, began last January and has continued ever since with occasional but ineffectual rallies. And they add that industrial production hits its crest in March. They question if the usual fall pick-up will carry output back to that spring peak.

Those who question the stock market's role as barometer, however, warn against confusing speculators with investors. The in-and-out stock trader buys or sells to take advantage of the day-by-day price changes or the week-by-week trends. Brokers say that almost all the selling so far has come from this group.

The investor, on the other hand, buys for the yield and for the long-term prospects. So far, apparently, most investors are standing pat, or watchfully waiting. The great majority of stockholders, scattered throughout the country, are in the investor class.

That the general economy is ripe for a slowdown appears to be the view of many observers. They note that defense spending is due to drop a little, that industry has been turning out more goods than retailers have been selling and that inventories, therefore, have been rising. They stress that much of recent selling has been on the cuff and question how much longer consumers can mortgage their future incomes to buy for present use.

Some say that what is happening is a planned deflation and they believe it will be a controlled one. They mean that some time ago Washington took measures to halt inflation, to harden the dollar, to make money and credit tighter, to cut government spending. All of these things would tend to slow down the pace of business, which had been increasing steadily for several years.

They agree that the pace is now slackening and may be falling behind. But they think Washington has the means of keeping a recession from getting out of hand.

The measures they expect to be used include easing up on credit restrictions and making the dollar a little easier. Steps in this direction have already been taken and more are expected.

Lower taxes, due the first of the year, will help, too. Consumers will have more money to spend. Corporate earnings will benefit, so that dividend rates may not be cut, unless sales should fall much more than most now anticipate. So far, consumer buying has shown few signs of faltering.

Man Filing Suit Says 'Flying Saucer' Is His

PATERSON, N. J. (AP) — Bruno Nagler is trying to get exclusive property rights to the "Flying Saucer."

Nagler, a White Plains, N. Y., manufacturer, filed suit in Superior Court yesterday claiming the "Flying Saucer" is his and that an "infringing product" is diminishing its value.

He asked $2,500 from McCrory Stores, Passaic, and an injunction stopping them from selling the "Flying Prop," which he says "closely resembles the distinctive design" of the "Flying Saucer."

The "Flying Saucer" and the "Flying Prop" are helicopter-type toys.

Marion Club Undergoes Remodeling Project

A remodeling job is in progress on the "Marion Club" at Hotel Harding. Virgil E. Dye, manager, announced the program today. He said the project should be completed by Nov. 1.

Remodeling was begun in the early part of August. The cost is expected to run close to $30,000, most of which is being spent for the purchase of air conditioning equipment, furnishings, and other fixtures which will go into the room.

The room will be renamed upon its completion. Dye said he has not yet decided upon the name of the room, but added he is open for any suggestions along that line.

Folding partitions will permit the room to be divided into two dining halls. One end will be capable of seating 40 persons while the other section will handle 75 people. It will be used for banquets, private parties, meetings, and conventions. Dye said partitioning of the room will give enough extra space to handle any extra load which may be placed on the capacity of the hotel.

Separate doors have been cut to provide entrance to both ends of the hall, and the old entranceway has been sealed off, making it part of the east wall

Hairdressers Plan 5th Annual Styling Show

Plans were discussed for the fifth annual hair styling show and contest to be held Nov. 16 when the Marion Chapter, Hairdressers Guild, held its annual picnic Sunday at Aumiller Park in Bucyrus.

Mrs. Mary Swan, president, presided and appointed Mrs. Tillie Potter of Galion chairman of the committee in charge of the show. Named to serve with her were Mrs. Grace Peddicord and Mrs Josephine Ferguson of Marion, Mrs. Ruth Ruhland of Bucyrus, and Mrs. Dorothy Goare of Mt. Gilead

A called meeting will be held in the near future to further plan for the affair. The next meeting of the chapter will be Oct. 19 at Hotel Harding.

Corn from the 1953 crop will be supported at $1.58 per bushel, or 90 per cent of parity at the beginning of the 1953 marketing year, whichever is higher.

ROBBED. TV actress Lola Montez poses on a ladder to show newsmen how a burglar got into her penthouse apartment in New York and made off with $500 in costume jewelry, 12 pairs of nylons and a generous helping of Scotch and brandy. He left a typed note of apology.

Takes Hefty Swing

PHOENIX, Ariz (AP)—Lying in his back yard, Carl Knutson noticed a tarantula spider crawl up his arm.

Knutson, a 203-pound truck driver who stands 6 feet, 1 inch, took a hefty swing.

He was hospitalized for treatment of a dislocated left shoulder.

Residents Start Registering in Six Precincts

Residents of six Marion County voting districts, if they wish to exercise their voting privilege at the general election in November, will begin registering with the Board of Elections Thursday. Registration is scheduled to continue Saturday and Wednesday.

This "signing up" is the result of a resolution passed by the board in August requiring an estimated 2,200 voters in these rural districts to register before being allowed to vote.

These six precincts are LaRue Village, Prospect Village North, Prospect Village South, Big Island Township, Prospect Township, and Richland Township. Previously registration had been required in only four other rural voting districts, Marion Township North and South, and Pleasant Township North and South, as well as the city of Marion.

The "register before voting" ruling was made by board members because they felt population increases and an increasing population turnover have made it more difficult for precinct workers to identify voters in recent years. Ohio law grants local election boards the right to require registration of voters.

With the exception of LaRue residents, who will go to the Fire Department to register, voters in the six districts may register in the township halls of their respective townships.

Time available for this registration on Thursday, Saturday, and Wednesday has been scheduled from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., and from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Extra Candle for Luck

Separated Siamese Twin Reaches Second Birthday

CHICAGO (AP) — They put three candles on Rodney Dee Brodie's birthday cake today—two for his two years of age and "one to grow on."

That one-to-grow-on candle is a good luck wish that Rodney will reach his next birthday safe and sound.

He may need a little of that luck in the year ahead.

Rodney's chances of having another birthday seemed agonizingly slim on his first birthday a year ago. He and his Siamese twin brother, Roger, were joined extensively at the tops of their heads. A separation operation was on tap and no twin ever before had survived such surgery.

Rodney came through the Dec. 17, 1952 history-making operation which cost Roger his life. He is gaining strength steadily in response to special exercise and treatments. Doctors at the University of Illinois Medical Center give the brown-eyed boy a good chance to live a nearly normal life.

The doctors have described Rodney as reasonably bright, good natured and in fairly good general health. But they have said it is too early to determine whether he is completely normal mentally.

Effects Not Certain

Whether the brain surgery has caused damage to vital centers or the ordeal of repeated operations has left scars on the subconscious are questions that cannot yet be answered. So far doctors say they have found no evidence of mental impairment.

But there is one big surgical problem still to lick that has sent Rodney's doctors into frequent huddles in the last six months. That is supplying a hard roof substitute for his missing skull top.

No decision has yet been made on whether to use bone, metal or plastic and no definite date has been set for the surgery, expected this fall or winter.

They have been preparing for this step since a skin cover was placed over the boy's naked brain March 11 in the 20th operation of the series.

"It is a very difficult undertaking and we don't want to proceed until we have a more concrete idea of how to carry it through," a spokesman said.

Delicate Operation

Rodney's own skull, shaped like an open stove pipe, extends upward only to an inch and a half above his ears. Surgeons will have to build the skull sides higher and then complete a roof-like cover.

Bone transplanted from other areas of Rodney's body would be ideal for the job but the area to be covered is far too vast for the amount of bone available.

Surgeons say bone from a bone bank will sometimes slough off and pull loose, and that metal or plastic are foreign substances which can cause irritation.

The hard roof will have to be inserted under the transplanted skin that covers the brain and will come in direct contact with this vital tissue.

But like any 2-year-old who knows he's going to have a birthday, Rodney zipped through the hospital pediatrics ward on his four-wheel walker today, jabbering and proud.

Sunny Disposition

Oblivious to his condition and the problems ahead, Rodney is a happy boy with a sunny disposition. He still is unable to walk or get up from bed unassisted but his muscle tone is improving with physical therapy. A weakness of his left side muscles that followed the separation operation has all but disappeared.

He is 33 inches tall and weighs 24 pounds and 4 ounces, around normal for a baby of his age.

Nurses gaily bedecked the largest room in the ward and invited the four other children patients to Rodney's party.

The Oatis Story

to deny facts, however damaging, would only make my situation worse. So I signed the paper.

I was still wearing my own clothes, eating meals from the police headquarters canteen and sleeping on a cot in an office, under guard. I was encouraged to believe, against all logic, that I might go on that way—if I only kept talking.

He Was Blindfolded

"You don't have to worry about Pankrac," one man told me, naming the Prague prison.

On Thursday, I helped the police read my notes, and was allowed to take a tub bath. On Friday, I must have turned stubborn again. That night, a policeman brought me stinking old houseslippers and shapeless blue burlap pajamas. When I had put on this prison uniform I was led around the corner to a cell.

At about 4 a.m. Saturday, a uniformed guard banged on my cell door. He blindfolded me with black cloth-covered goggles and led me into an immense blackness. Suddenly out of that blackness, from what seemed an enormous distance, I heard a loud and menacing shout.

It was none the less sinister for being in the Czech language, of which I understood hardly a word. At once, just as loud and menacing, came the interpretation:

"You are now facing the state power of the Czechoslovak republic!"

They Shouted Questions

I knew the voices. They were voices of Communist secret policemen that had arrested me five days earlier and questioned me from early morning till late at night on each succeeding day.

Now, boasting of their authority, they started in again, three or four of them talking by turns.

The chief interrogator shouted questions about the list of military sites.

"Where did you get that?" he demanded.

"From Col. Atwood."

"What did you want it for?"

"Just for my own information. I didn't intend to use it in a story."

There were perhaps two hours like that. Then I was allowed to take off my blindfold.

The office had a table and chairs and was not nearly so large as I had imagined. Soft morning light came through the second-floor windows.

Two plainclothes detectives got me some breakfast.

I was asked about a man named Vladimir Komarek, alias Josef Kulhanek. I had seen the name Komarek for the first time on a police document a few days before. I had heard about the man from my Czech employes. But I had never met him. All I knew was that he was a Czech refugee from Paris who was in and out of his homeland from time to time on mysterious missions.

But three of my employes were acquainted with him, and they were under arrest. And the police said Komarek was a foreign agent, and that another acquaintance of his had shot and killed one of their men some two months before.

I insisted I had never even seen Komarek. So they asked me about another man—Jan Stransky, a former employe of the United Press in Prague.

Stransky, on a Sunday pass from a labor camp where he was serving time for plotting to flee the country, had visited my office, saying he was hunting for Russell Jones, the UP chief in Prague. He said he was going to get out of camp in a few months, and hoped he could get his job back. I agreed to take a note from him and give it to Jones when I saw the latter. Next day I saw Jones at a "world student congress," and gave it to him. He read it and tore it up, throwing away the pieces.

Now the police asked:

"Do you know what was in that letter?"

"No," I said. "I didn't read it."

Questioned for 24 Hours

They handed me the letter, pasted together. Stransky had advised Jones that he suspected another United Press employe, a Czech, of being a police spy. He had given the grounds for his suspicion—incidents the police had questioned him about before putting him in the camp.

"Is that espionage?" an interrogator said.

"Yes," I replied.

I should have said, "I don't know."

Instead, I gave the answer the police expected; they were interpreting the law for me, and I felt I must accept their interpretation. They had impressed me that it goes hard with the prisoner failing to admit an obvious fact.

There followed question after question, hour after hour. I had been under interrogation 24 hours. I was dead tired, fighting sleep, swaying on my feet, and they would not let me sit down.

I said, "I'm not going to answer any more questions."

"Why not?"

"I'm sleepy, I'm not going to answer any more questions tonight. I want to go to bed."

"You'll be sorry you said that."

They whisked me downstairs, handcuffed my wrists together in front of me and led me out to a small Skoda sedan. Two policemen were in front. Two others were in back, and I sat between them, blindfolded and bent forward with my head between my knees. I thought, "Here I go to Pankrac Prison."

Air Force Vet Dies In Test Chamber

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Maj. Jack M. Berkovitz, 33-year-old Air Force combat veteran, collapsed and died yesterday while taking altitude instruction in a pressure chamber at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

Seven other students and an instructor in the chamber were not affected. Base doctors were to conduct a post-mortem examination. Cause of Berkovitz' death had not been determined early today.

The instruction, described by base officials as "routine," simulated air pressures at various altitudes.

Berkovitz, World War II veteran, lived with his wife and four children in Dayton.

Priests in Overalls Fight Against Reds Halted in France

PARIS (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church called a halt today to its program of trying to fight communism in France with priests in overalls.

Word went out to end the novel experiment begun in 1944.

Into the battle against the five million Frenchmen who vote the Communist ticket the church eight years ago threw student priests who worked among the factory hands at the benches, dock hands in ports and waiters in the nation's myriad restaurants.

Many influential Frenchmen—politicians and clergymen—were shocked during the big wave of strikes throughout the nation last month to find some of the worker priests among the most ardent strikers.

Last Saturday, Pope Pius XII warned priests living and working among laborers to be wary of becoming dupes of Marxist and other social theories the Catholic Church condemns.

The warning was voiced in a letter sent in the Pope's name by the Vatican to Italian ecclesiastical assistants attached to anti-Communist labor organizations. It was understood to have been prompted, however, by the experiences in France.

The truck will replace one owned by former Fire Chief William F. Mader. A one and one-half ton Chevrolet truck will be purchased from Kibler Motor Sales at a cost of $1,613. The truck will be used by the service department.

Soviets Revive Three Bureaus

Ministries Scrapped After Death of Stalin

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government announced today it has reestablished three ministries abolished in the March reorganization following Stalin's death. This was in addition to the splitting of three other ministries into six government divisions, announced yesterday.

The three departments reconstituted are auto transport and highways, to be headed by Ivan A. Likhachev; geology and protection of resources, with P. Y. Antropov in charge, and aviation production to be bossed by P. V. Dementiev.

Changes announced Tuesday affected government administration of the supply of foodstuffs and consumer goods, and domestic and foreign trade. Apparently they were designed to aid the Kremlin's announced plans to boost production of consumer goods and foodstuffs.

In the reshuffle last March, the aviation production ministry had been consolidated with the armaments ministry, the highways department absorbed into the transport ministry and the duties of the geology department distributed among such ministries as those of coal and oil

In the reshuffle revealed Tuesday, the ministry of food and light industry became the ministries of foodstuff production and production of consumer goods, the ministry of foreign and internal trade was split into its two component parts, and a ministry of state farms was created out of the continuing ministry of agriculture and procurement.

Primary

an attempted political comeback Chairman James A. Farley.

Vote is Light

The voter turnout was surprisingly light, although control of both the city and state democratic machinery was at stake. The total Democratic vote ran well below the record 800,000 cast in 1937.

The victory apparently cemented control of the city and state party leadership in the hands of the Manhattan (Tammany Hall) and Bronx Borough chieftains.

Impellitteri won as an independent in 1950 after being snubbed when the party considered a candidate to complete the unexpired term of resigned Mayor William O'Dwyer.

This year, however, the five boroughs which make up the city split in choosing a candidate. The conservative wing, including leaders of Brooklyn, Queens and Staten Island, backed Impellitteri.

Fight for Control

In the beginning this shaped up as a test of strength for the late Bronx political boss Ed Flynn, who had been chief spokesman for the city and state party many years.

Flynn died last month, however, and this threw open the position of chief spokesman regardless of the primary's outcome.

Farley, who split with President Franklin D. Roosevelt over the third term issue in 1940, pitched in on Impellitteri's side.

Regardless of whom the Wagner faction chooses to succeed Flynn as national committeeman, it seemed likely that he will be a powerful voice in the state's 94-vote delegation to the next presidential convention.

This faction is also expected to dominate the selection of a Democratic candidate for governor next year.

These developments could prove of great significance to the political future of Roosevelt.

He has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the presidential nomination in 1956 and is widely rumored as a gubernatorial possibility next year.

In the Nov. 3 general election, Wagner, who is the son of the late author of the New Deal Labor Relations Act, must face three other candidates who were nominated without opposition today.

They are

Harold Riegelman, the Republican designee.

Rudolph Halley, the Liberal party choice

Halley became known to millions of television viewers as quizmaster for the Kefauver Crime Committee two years ago. He is the outgoing president of the City Council.

The city's registered Democratic voter strength of 2,135,000 outnumbers the Republicans by more than 2-to-1. The Liberal and Labor parties have only fractional registrations.

All four party nominees for Manhatta nborough president are Negroes.

It has been widely assumed they either slipped behind the Iron Curtain or were kidnapped by Communist agents and taken there No word has been heard of them since.

H. E. Webster, organizer of the club, presented a certificate of merit to the retiring president in recognition of his services. Committees named by the new president are Emmett Osterholt, Francis Hartman, William Bland, Robert Haldeman, ladies night party; Emil Lisak, Robert Craven, Paul McCleary, membership; Tim Wyant, general chairman of Booster committee; Cloyce Newlove, food.

"Making the Most of America," was the subject of the inspiring talk by Mr. Sherwood of Rotterdam Junction, N. Y. Love and appreciation of country was emphasized by the speaker. Born without sight he travels alone filling lecture engagements throughout the country.

Charles Ziegler who will serve as program chairman for the year, announced the next meeting Oct 6 at Columbian Hall. Speaker will be George Leher whose topic will be "Lincoln to Life" The meeting will be sponsored by small industries.

OEA Seeking State Board Of Education

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio Education Assn. meeting today discussed ways and means of supporting a campaign for a state constitutional amendment to permit creation of a state board of education.

The meeting was attended by school board chairmen from all 88 Ohio counties.

The proposed constitutional amendment will be on the ballot Nov. 3. It provides for a state board paralleling the county school boards and would inject a greater element of long-range planning into operations of the state department of education, according to an OEA spokesman.

The proposed state board of education, as envisioned by the OEA spokesman, would appoint the state director of education and would advise him on important decisions.

Forty-four other states now have such boards, and creation of an Ohio board of education is favored by local parent-teacher associations and other civic groups the OEA spokesman said.

ty oath, had voted to give their previously non-paid National Chairman Stephen Mitchell $25,000 a year salary and lashed out at Eisenhower administration domestic and foreign policies

Mitchell had an opportunity at a news conference today 9 a.m. CST to announce personnel of a committee to study the rules of the next convention and report to it in 1956.

This apparently would take the party-splitting issue out of next year's campaign for control of Congress.

Discusses Findings

After his formal speech last night, Stevenson launched into a discussion of his findings in his recent world tour. It was a sort of informal resume of some of the things he may tell Eisenhower in a planned conference between the two men at the White House soon.

Stevenson quipped that his cup of defeat had not been too bitter, because, after all, he had been around the world and Eisenhower had only been to Denver on a vacation.

Half-seriously he observed that for most of us, a successful foreign policy would be one without involvement in foreign affairs."

"The ideal would be isolationist, but the reality would be total involvement in world affairs," he declared.

Deputies Arrest Man On Charge of Fraud

Robert Leroy Johnson, 28, of near Marion is confined in the Marion County jail today on a fraud charge filed against him by John W. Reidel of near Marion

Johnson was arrested Monday night by Marion County sheriff's deputies on a warrant signed by Reidel charging he obtained a 1946 model car worth $350 from Ruth Reidel by fraud. Reidel claims Johnson traded in a 1940 model car for which he had no title and failed to produce the title as promised.

In Municipal Court Tuesday afternoon, Johnson pleaded not guilty to the fraud charge and his bond was set at $1,000 pending a preliminary hearing No date was set for the hearing He was confined to jail when unable to post the bond.

Test

exact number of Air Force planes was not disclosed

Cooperating in the test on a voluntary basis, FCC officials here said, were 1,300 of the nation's 2,100 am radio stations. Those participating could be heard clearly in their immediate localities. It was only off the ground that reception was mixed and garbled.

This, officials explained, was the advantage of Conelrad over the World War II method of shutting down all broadcasting; it permits local authorities to advise people in their areas during emergencies while frustrating an enemy from finding a U. S. target by getting a navigation "fix" on a radio station in a large metropolitan area.

Plan Not New

FCC and civil defense officials here said Canada, Mexico and most Western European nations had devised systems similar to Conelrad. They said Russia presumably has a similar plan.

Conelrad first was tested in 1951 by the FCC. In this secret trial and others no plane was successful in using radio beams for navigation.

Today's test brought civil defense authorities into the picture for the first time, plus the largest number of participating stations. Commercial airline aviators also were asked to watch their radio compasses and make reports to the FCC.

Need More Stations

Officials here said the system has an "acute need" for more participating stations, especially in the rural areas; and they said some radio stations had failed to meet commitments to participate.

They pointed out that the efficiency of the device is greater if more stations in more localities participate, for every station is an added direction from which a radio beam can be sent.

Conelrad is short for "control of electromagnetic radiation."

The system keeps as many AM radio stations as possible on the air, with the largest stations reducing power and every participating station shifting to a frequency not its own. Thus, an approaching enemy plane is provided with not a single beam, but more than it can handle.

The scramble renders direction finders on plane useless.

Use Two Frequencies

Only two broadcasting frequencies—640 kilocycles or 1,240 kilocycles—are used The station shifts are to either of these two positions on the dial.

An approaching enemy bomber would receive signals on these two beams from many cities, and would be unable to tell where they came from

On these frequencies the 1,300 stations which participated today continued to function, some carrying regular programs and some carrying special civil defense test programs. In a real emergency the participating stations would operate for the benefit of the local populace and for whatever use civil defense desired to put them

Results of the test will not be known for several days.

EX-SCHOOLMAN DIES

MEDINA, Ohio (AP) — Frank H. Close, retired superintendent of nearby Wadsworth public schools and former Holmes County school superintendent, died yesterday at 68.

FIND WIDOW'S BODY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The body of Mrs. Lovina Barnett, 45-year-old widow, was found by firemen in the Scioto River today. Police quoted relatives as saying she intended to take her own life.

VA Hospital Funds Released

Cleveland Project Gets $23,352,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Bureau of the Budget said today it has released $23,352,000 to finance construction of a Veterans Administration hospital in Cleveland.

The money had been held up, along with many other appropriations for new building projects, by order of President Eisenhower last February In an economy move, he had asked that these projects be reviewed as to need.

A spokesman at the Veterans Administration said that as soon as the VA has been officially notified of the action studies will start on where the hospital will be built. At present, the government owns property adjacent to Crile General Hospital in Brecksville, Ohio, near Cleveland.

But the VA spokesman said about 18 other sites also are being considered.

Damage Suit Results From Traffic Crash

A suit asking $10,000 damages has been filed in Marion County Common Pleas Court by Stella E. Ruehrmund, administratrix of the estate of the late Edgar Ruehrmund of near Marion.

Defendant named in the suit is Robert N. Wolf of 499½ Windsor St

The suit claims Ruehrmund suffered great pain and discomfort, was hospitalized 27 days and was continuously disabled from Oct. 16, 1951 to the date of his death on March 4 ,1952 as a result of a collision at W. Columbia and Windsor Sts. on Oct. 16, 1951.

The accident occurred, the suit claims, when Wolf drove through a red light while northbound on Windsor St. and collided with Ruehrmund's car which was westbound on W. Columbia St.

Home of Teacher Target for Bomb In Shaker Heights

CLEVELAND (AP)—A home-made bomb exploded last night at the home of a Shaker Heights high school teacher who police said "ruled the students with an iron hand." Except for a broken window, there was no damages.

It was the second time the teacher's home was the target of an attack.

The bomb went off on the porch while Kenneth E. Mowrey, 28—who teaches chemistry and biology—his wife, Fran, and their two children were sleeping.

Mowrey, who said he enforced school regulations to the letter, added he had received a telephone call after the incident. A teen-age voice said:

"Hello, pop, is your house still standing? This is only the beginning."

School officials said Mowrey enforced school rules rigidly, but was not unnecessarily strict.

In April a shot was fired through Mowrey's front window and was imbedded in a davenport on which he and his wife were sitting.

Atlantic Hurricane Moves Northwest

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Edna, fifth hurricane of the season, moved northwest in the Atlantic today with 125-mile an hour winds churning around its center.

The hurricane had slowed its forward movement slightly, from 18 to 16 miles per hour, and no land areas lay in its immediate path. The big mass of wind was roughly 650 miles southeast of the Florida coast.

At 5 a. m (EST) the storm was centered 430 miles east southeast of Nassau in the Bahama Islands.

Highest winds were over a small area north of the center and gales extended outward 150 miles to the north and east and 75 miles to the south and west.

The storm was slightly south of east of Miami and shipping in its path was advised to exercise caution.

INCORPORATION OKAYED

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The secretary of state's office today approved incorporation of The Ashland Broadcasting Co, authorizing the firm to issue 250 shares of no-par common stock. Starting capitalization was announced at $30,000, and Robert Burke, Carl N. Fox and Edward Fox were listed as the incorporators.

HOW TO SCRUB GAS

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP) — Scrubbing gas sounds about as easy as washing grime from the invisible man. Yet this is a process accomplished by the chemical industry today with the use of scrubber columns, according to engineers of the Pfaudler Co Gases and vapors can be separated by introducing liquid at the top of the tower This liquid absorbs corrosive impurities from the vapor mixture.

Chicago Man Still Seeks Submarine To Cruise on Lake

CHICAGO (AP)—Edward M. Moran says he still is trying to rent a submarine to use for a combined business and pleasure cruise in Lake Michigan.

Moran who sells plumbers' supplies, thought he had rented a submarine yesterday but discovered he was a victim of a prankster.

Morn sid h ebelievedthedel

Moran said he believed the deal was closed—except for the payment—after a telephone call from a man who identified himself as a representative of the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., Kearney, N. J.

He told Moran the submarine would be in Chicago in about three weeks for Moran, who planned to take about 50 guests on the lake cruise. Moran also planned to deliver some plumbing supplies. The owner of the submarine was to furnish a pilot, cook and bartender

Moran learned yesterday—through his bank—that Federal, a subsidiary of U. S. Steel, is only a name carried on to maintain guarantees on ships the firm built during World War II, that it never built a submarine and operates no yard.

First Meeting Of Year Held By Engineers

Zanesville Contractor Conducts Discussion On Highway Bridges

Russell J Mason, Zanesville contractor, addressed members of the Marion County Chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers at the first meeting of the year Monday night at Hotel Harding. A dinner preceded the meeting.

Mason's talk included slides on a prestressed concrete bridge built by his firm near Zanesville. The bridge was the first of its type built in Ohio and is located near Roseville, 10 miles south of Zanesville It is part of the Muskingum County Flood Control Project.

Explains Features.

Novel features of the bridge are that it is made entirely of concrete except for a small amount of steel reinforcing, Mason said. The strength of the concrete girders is obtained by the addition of built-up cables embedded in the concrete under tremendous tension Concrete girders are constructed at the bridge site, thus eliminating the transportation of heavy and large pieces, he told the audience. Concrete is compacted with vibrating machines to give a very dense material. Mason said although the cost of such a bridge is approximately the same as a steel bridge, only approximately eight per cent of the weight of steel is required. The bridge is ideal where steel must be conserved and it is used rather extensively in Europe and at the present time is gaining popularity in the United States, he told the group.

Following his talk, Mason showed a movie showing the step by step construction of the Walnut Lane Memorial bridge at Philadelphia. It was the first prestressed concrete bridge in the United States.

Business Session Held

Mason's talk followed a short business session conducted by the new president, James H. Harmon, who introduced the speaker. A.F. Busick was program chairman.

The local professional engineers chapter passed a unanimous resolution favoring the raising of funds for the Marion Traffic Survey promoted by the streets and highways committee and the grade elimination committee of the Marion Chamber of Commerce. The entire membership will support the undertaking.

Two new members were elected to the society. They were Dean Cochran, an engineer with the hydraulic Press Machinery Co. at Mt. Gilead, and Howard Duhamel, supervising telephone engineer with the General Telephone Company.

At the next meeting of the society on Oct. 12, members and guests will tour the new Marion sewage disposal plant.

More Money Available for Farmer Loans

A new allotment of federal funds for farm housing loans in Marion County was announced this week by H. V. Anderson, supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration at Mt. Gilead.

Purpose of the credit is to finance construction or repair of homes and farm buildings for farm families.

The loans draw four per cent interest and are repayable over periods up to 33 years In the last three years, 18 families in the four-county area, have borrowed approximately $107,100 to improve inadequate housing

Since the demand for these loans exceeds the funds, Anderson explained, only farm owners receiving all or a substantial portion of their income from the sale of farm commodities may qualify as borrowers. A loan may be made to improve a farm on which the operator works off the farm only if he or members of his family are farming on a sizable scale. These loans may not be used to construct rural residences or other buildings for families not generally recognized as farmers.

An FHA committee in each county, composed of three local farmbers are Clyde V. Beaver, Mrs. Marion County committee members are Clyde V. Bever, Mrs. Mabel I. Dobbins and Howard F. Lusch, all of Marion.

Since this new type of credit was established by Congress four years ago, about 16,300 farm owners throughout the country have used the aid to improve their homes and buildings. Loans amounting to $81,416,000 nationwide have been made for new houses, for repairing and remodeling old houses; for new barns, poultry houses, and other buildings. Numerous loans also have included funds for farmstead water systems.

Radio and Television

By John Crosby

'Let's Sing, Shall We?'

CHICAGO

Chicago television has spuled over its borders to other parts of the country. Like "Ding Dong School," shows come along from time to time that go network. Never is this deliberate. Chicago TV is designed always simply to fill the need of Chicagoans and, when a program like "Zoo Parade" suddenly catches the fancy of people all over the country, its producers are as surprised as the next man.

J. CROSBY

And how did "Zoo Parade" come about? "Well," Jules Herbuveaux, assistant general manager of station QMAQ, declared, "Every father ought to take his kids to the zoo — but about 80 per cent of them don't. So we take the kids to the zoo."

MOST EVERY SHOW that comes out of here was fathered by some such deceptively simple and forthright thinking. Herbuveaux credits much of it to the fact that Chicago is almost a thousand miles away from Madison avenue for which he has little respect. "More good ideas for programs are shrugged off in Twenty-one than ever get on the air," he'll tell you. "Out here we play the audience. We don't play the client. If you get the audience, you get the client."

Program director for WMAQ, NBC's radio station, and WNBQ its TV station, is George Heinemann. Every program he has put on the air has come out of his office — except one outside package he bought which promptly folded.

The accounting department loves him because his programs are wonderfully inexpensive. "Our programs are not strictly from hunger either,' he'll tell you. "We don't like to throw money around but we do things this way not just to save money but because we feel this is the way to do it."

ALL BUT ABOUT TWO of WNBQ's programs have exactly one person on each. As a rule that person is talking straight at you and usually he is telling you to do something. "What have we got for lunch"' says Johnny Coons on "Noontime Comics". "That's right — nice nourishing bowl of vegetable soup. Let's have some, shall we?"

And Coons starts to eat his soup, and along with him, half of Chicago's school children start to eat theirs. "Noontime Comic" came into being when WNBQ discovered that 82 per cent of Chicago's school children went home for lunch. Coons tells the kids stories, shows them movies and eats lunch with them It's got so many of them won't eat anything except what Coons has to eat—so each day Coons tells the mothers what he's going to have the next day. The mothers have it on hand.

RIGHT AFTER COONS comes "Animal Playtime" with Win Stracke, a guitar - playing folk singer. By this time the school kids are on their way back to school and this program is aimed at their little brothers and sisters who don't yet go to school. "It's time to sing with Uncle Win so lets sing," says Win, "one - two-three" and he starts to sing.

Thousands of pre - school moppets pipe right along with him When he's through, he tells them to go take their naps and they scamper off to bed. The time may come when no Chicago child will do anything except what someone on television tells him to do.

Probably nowhere else in the world is the sense of participation emphasized so strongly as here. On "Ding Dong School" in the mornings little children are told by Miss Frances to go get a piece of colored string and a paper bag from which they can make a shopping basket. A little while later on "Creative Cooker,' one of the few really sensibly - run cooking programs, Francois Pope, the chef on the program, is telling Chicago's mothers to get out a saucepan and fold in the whites of two eggs.

ONCE A WEEK Walt Durbham tells all the men in the audience to procure a 12-foot, eight - by - one inch plank, saw into three equal parts — and so forth. And every night Dorsey Conners, a pretty blue-eyed blonde, tells all the Chicago mothers what to do with wire coathangers.

Actually, Dorsey hands out all sorts of household hints but she's famed all over Chicago for her tricks with wire coathangers. She twists them into magazine racks, pipeholders, toys, and just about anything you can name.

She's done everything with those coathangers except artificial insemination, says Herbuveaux proudly.

WNBQ may do more of its own programming than any other TV station in the country. Most local stations like to push a switch and tie on to a network program which brings in money at no cost or trouble to themselves.

WNBQ ON THE OTHER hand, prides itself that it produces 56 hours of programming (much of it network programming) a week, which is a lot of programs for one station. Forty-two hours of that is live programming. Neither Heinemann nor Herbuveaux care much for film.

The station is owned and operated by NBC but its prime loyalty is with Chicago, not with the network "All of NBC's stations ought to be run by people who've lived in the city all their lives' says Herbuveaux. "I wouldn't tell anyone what to do in New York. I couldn't tell them what they want in Cleveland But I know what they want here."

Marion, Cardington Girls Win in Sewing Contest

A Cardington girl won top honors and a Marion girl placed third in a district Teen-Age Dressmaking Contest held Monday night at Mansfield. Both were winners in a local contest earlier this month.

Miss Ann Boger, daughter of Mr and Mrs Lowell Boger of Cardington won top prize in the district contest and Miss Linda McArthur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Ted McArthur of 132 George St. was third and received a consolation award. Miss Boger will go to Cleveland for the regional contest Oct. 2.

After a physical examination of all New York City's police recently, it was announced that only 19 out of the 19,000 of them had flat feet.

2 Free After Agreeing To 'Kiss and Make Up'

BALTIMORE (AP)—In Southern Police Court Monday, Elmer Greenwald, 33-year-old tavern operator, was charged with assault and striking Jasper Mills.

It was alleged Mills, 29, spent four weeks in a hospital as a result of the assault.

In turn, Mills was charged with assault and striking Greenwald and with disorderly conduct.

Magistrate Simon Schonfield dismissed all charges when Greenwald's attorney said the two men had agreed to "kiss and make up."

These Days

By George Sokolsky

The Constitution of the United States was signed on Sept. 17, 1787, and was thereupon laid before the legislatures of the several states for "their assent and ratification." The resolution was signed by George Washington, president of the convention, and W. Jackson, Secretary. Thus, Sept. 17 of each year should mark one of the most notable anniversaries in our history. Unfortunately, it is not so marked.

SOKOLSKY

In fact, whereas in the various states there are a large number of commemorative days, celebrating this or that event, nowhere in the United States is the signing of the Constitution set aside for special attention. Like so much about the Constitution, it is taken for granted.

IN MANY RESPECTS, this day is worthy of our attention. It marks a prolonged effort on the part of some of the best minds this country ever produced to establish a fundamental law, sovereign for the entire United States and yet not depriving each state of its own sovereignty or each individual of his inalienable rights. The task was difficult; the achievement stupendous.

The core of the American Constitution is that this is a government of law; it does not tolerate the whim of one man, be he benevolent or tyrannical.

At no point in the Constitution are powers or authorities delegated to one man or to one office without limitations, checks and balances.

The President is neither a king nor a prime minister; he is a constitutional executive with such powers as are designated to him and beyond which he may not go. We do not elect a government; we elect an administrator.

PERHAPS THIS very characteristic of our Constitution is responsible for the excess of legislation which is so typical of the Congress and of the state legislatures.

That excess is curbed by public opinion, which resists the unwarranted.

James Coolidge Carter, one of our greater lawyers, said of this: ". . . There are a vast number of laws on the statute-books of the several states which are never enforced, and generally for the reason that they are unacceptable to the people.

"There are great numbers of others the enforcement of which, or attempts to enforce which, are productive of bribery, perjury, subornation of perjury, animosity and hate among citizens, useless expenditure, and many other public evils.

"All these are fruits of the common notion, to correct which but little effort is anywhere made, that a legislative enactment is necessarily a law, and will certainly bring about, or help to bring about the good intended by it, whereas such an enactment, when never enforced, does not deserve the name law at all, and when the attempted enforcement of it is productive of the mischiefs abovementioned, it is not so much law as it is tyranny."

THE BEST EXAMPLE of the correctness of this view appeared in the utter inability of all the agencies of government to enforce prohibition, leading to the eventual repeal of the 18th amendment to the Constitution.

Long before any legislative action was taken, the people repealed the Volstead Act by passive resistance.

Despite the complexities of American life, perhaps never envisaged by the founding fathers, the Constitution holds, with comparatively few amendments in 166 years.

The first ten, the so-called Bill of Rights, are realistically not amendments but integral parts of the Constitution. The 13th, 14th, and 15th were a product of the War Between the States. Of the remaining nine, one was cancelled out by an amendment to that effect.

ONLY ONE AMENDMENT to the Constitution is now pending, although two others have been suggested, one limiting the taxing power of the federal government.

The one pending is the Bricker amendment to clarify the treaty-making power to the President—an amendment which is necessary because of conditions arising out of World War II and the establishment of the United Nations. This amendment would modify the treaty-making process, more effectively to protect the rights of the American people.

The story of the American Constitution and the meaning of its contents ought to be referred to annually in every school assembly, from the lowest grades upward.

Too many of our citizens have never read the Constitution nor do they understand the benefits that they derive therefrom. Too many of our younger people grow up without an understanding of the fundamental institutions of our country

Radar Is Defended As Traffic Control At Safety Meeting

CLEVELAND (AP) — Radar speed checks and chemical tests for drinking drivers should be used widely as methods of traffic law enforcement, the 15th annual Ohio State Safety Conference was told yesterday.

Municipal Judge Thomas M Powers of Akron presented the case for use of radar. He said it is "the most modern and efficient tool available" to deal with excessive speed on the highways.

What's more, he said, "In practically every case, the speeder caught by radar pleads guilty, and not one case in 20 requires a trial."

Dr. Glenn C. Forrester of Niagara Falls, N. Y., said the question of whether a driver is drunk should be decided on the work of a qualified chemist or toxicologist."

Noting that several cases based on chemical intoxication tests have been defeated recently, he said the defeats" are based on the incompetence of the operators of the test device."

MILK PRICES GO UP

CLEVELAND (AP)—Milk prices go up a cent a quart today in Cleveland and Akron. Major dairies announced the new price on home delivered milk would be 21 cents a quart for standard, 22 cents for homogenized.

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — The $400,000, 120-bed mental receiving hospital being built in Portsmouth will receive its first patients next Jan. 1, John H. Lamneck, welfare director, said yesterday. He said construction will be completed within 60 days.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

The "little red-head," Walter Reuther, is unperturbed by the army of pallbearers lined up to buy CIO.

RIESEL

Instead, he has spent the past few days behind closed doors with his colleagues in a new, dynamic drive which could make him the most influential labor leader in the country, industrially and politically, by the time the next presidential campaign rolls around.

But whether it makes him or breaks him, the push on the labor front will unloose an adventure which may add as exciting a chapter to the CIO's turbulent 18-year-old history as were the days of sitdowns. And right in the same city, too.

REUTHER, knowing full well well that he's gambling his own career as well as the CIO's future, now is making plans to tackle General Motors, Chrysler and Ford some time next year.

He'll take on this Big Three in a finish fight for a guaranteed annual wage for their 500,000 employes — by pulling a mass industry-wide strike if necessary.

Since this will mean that he will be fighting the nation's most powerful industrialists for a system of payment in which the companies will guarantee a year's pay for their people whether or not the work is there, the going will be rough. Billions of dollars in payrolls are involved. The corporations will stand pat for the old system of week to week pay and layoffs.

At the Auto Union executive meeting these past few days, Reuther and his aides admitted to themselves that this might be the toughest target they have yet tried to hit. Their deadline is Dec. 31, 1954.

THIS MEANS they must start campaigning against the Big Three of the auto industry next spring Which gives the union some eight months to prepare its multi-million dollar propaganda assault.

Reuther is ready to take it on. The peppery little red-head knows that only a major victory can save CIO. He knows, for many reasons, that the White House wants to wipe him out because it considers him a real power in the Democratic Party.

The GOP talks in terms of the "Reuther wing" of the Democratic organization Also, they figure Reuther as the opponent of everything the White House stands for here and abroad.

I got one glimpse of the administration's lukewarmness toward Reuther when I was in Germany recently.

ON THE AFTERNOON of July 17, the jangling telephone dragged me off my balcony at the Godesberger Hof, overlooking the Rhine. The lowered voice at the other end of the wire was that of a friend of mine in the press section of the American High Command in near-by Mahlem, just down the river from Bonn, the German capital.

"Walter Reuther and his brother Victor, and his radio and television aide, Guy Nunn, are in town," my friend said hurriedly. "Reuther will hold a press conference at the Dressen at 6. If you come over don't say I passed this on. It's completely unofficial The government, our embassy and Hicog are having nothing to do with it or the Reuther party officially."

A few hours later, the phone ran again. This time it was a high official telling me that AFL president George Meany was coming into Bonn and the people over at Hicog thought I'd like to know. No one was whispering. No warnings this was "unofficial."

THE DIFFERENCE was that Reuther had given the impression that he was close to the anti-Adenauer forces in Germany, while the U.S. State Dept. was working closely with the German Chancellor, eager for his victory. During the press conference Reuther did attack Adenauer, and De Gasperi, the Italian premier, as well.

So it is in America as well. The White House virtually refuses to recognize that there is any equality between the AFL and CIO.

Yet that equality, that principle that the CIO and the AFL were of equal strength and prestige, was the source of CIO's power for 18 years under Roosevelt and Truman. Now it's gone. The CIO has admitted that it has 4,000,000, not 6,000,000 members.

Local leaders in many areas, seeing that the AFL is close to the White House, are planning to desert CIO. This, simply on the theory that they can get more out of the AFL than the CIO, despite Martin Durkin's resignation. This could reduce Reuther's following to some 3,750,000 in less than a year, it is believed.

But that will still leave him a fairly powerful CIO. If he can then pull some coup to rehabilitate CIO's political prestige, he will keep his organization together The annual wage drive is just such a venture. If he can revolutionize the method of payment in the auto industry, other industries will have to follow.

He will replace John Lewis as the dynamic imaginative hero of labor. If he fails, especially after a long strike, CIO may then fall apart.

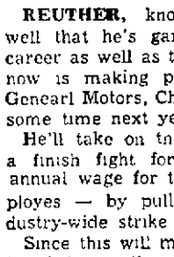
Retirement

By Inez Robb

Two books, guaranteed to make anyone a crazy, mixed-up kid, arrived simultaneously on my desk a few days ago. They are titled, obviously in sequence, "Teen-Age Gangs" and "Recreation for the Aging."



INEZ ROBB

I feel a trifle too mature for juvenile delinquency and a wee bit too skittish to live "on the rich residue of life's golden memories." It's like the song says, "They're Either too Young or too Old."

-:-

IN THE MEANTIME, I guess I shall simply have to plug along as best I can until some profound thinker writes a book aimed at the woman who has been 35 for some years.

Of course, the real problem here is to estimate how old she was before she was 35.

Since I have passed the time when I could deliberately prepare to be a successful juvenile delinquent. I suppose I ought seriously to begin to plan for my old age, as this book suggests.

Possible activities recommended for the aging in this tome are "weaving, rug making sewing, pottery, plastics, woodwork, leathercraft, knitting, lamp making, stenciling, braiding and knotting whatever that may be, wood carving and metalcraft."

I SCARCE DARE contemplate such a program of mad, mad fun, even with a first-aid kit always at hand, as the book sensibly suggests for all group activities of those in the upper birthday brackets.

As a matter of fact, I long ago set aside two recreations into which to plunge when the leaf is sere and withered. I am going to take up bridge and I am going to dye my hair. You heard me—bridge and the dye pot.

When the day comes that a new hat fails to lift the melancholy over crow's feet, sagging muscles and general atrophy, I am going into the nearest beauty shop and buy the full strawberry blonde treatment.

BY THAT TIME I shan't even be fooling myself, but I expect to feel lovely, and what better recreating could there be for the aging than that? Some old duffer in a wheel chair might even be willing to help me weave a rug!

I belong to a family which seems to manage its aging process with no pain to anyone even if some of the methods are a bit unorthodox and fail to receive serious consideration in "Recreation for the Aging."

Take uncle Frank Callaway, the uncle who decided to buy a few race horses to keep him out of mischief after he sold the cattle ranch in Nevada and "retired." At 77, both uncle Frank and the horses are going strong. That is, uncle Frank is 77 and both he and the horses are in fine fettle.

A FRIEND sent me a copy of the Ely, Nevada, "Daily Times" the other day with a lead editorial about uncle Frank. The town was having its annual "pony express days" celebration and had sent for my uncle, formerly a pillar of the community, to come up from his California retreat to arrange and take charge of the racing programs.

It was uncle Frank's duty to "match" the horses for the races, the editorial said, since the citizens had confidence they could bet their shirts if he presided over this solemn and important rite.

Rug weaving or wood carving would bore uncle Frank to death. Every man to his own recreation say I. When I retire, I plan to join uncle Frank and the horses, pausing only long enough enroute to buy the strawberry rinse.

'Goddess of Victory'

U.N. President Fought for Free India

By A. I. GOLDBERG

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — India backed Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, its "Goddess of Victory," Tuesday to become the first woman president of the United Nations General Assembly.

Mrs. Pandit and Prince Wan Waithayakon of Thailand were the main candidates for elections late in the day. With the backing of the United States and several other countries, Mrs. Pandit appeared to be in the winning position.

An aristocratic rebel, she was christened Swarup Karumi—Beautiful Princess. She fought alongside her brother, now Premier Jawaharlal Nehru, for India's independence, and served three terms in a British prison, emerging for the last time in 1943 after nine months in the Naini jail cells.

Now she is 53, widowed, a grandmother of four, her hair gray over her unlined complexion—and still an aristocratic rebel demanding independence for areas of Asia and Africa.

Her calm face, her short figure wrapped in rich silk saris, have become familiar in U. N. halls. She stood out in diplomatic circles of Moscow and Washington after the war as India's first woman ambassador to those capitals.

Srimanti Vijaya Lakshmi, as millions of Indians know her, set up an Indian sideshow to the first U. N. organization meeting in San Francisco in 1945, stole the spotlight from the British-Indian regime delegation there, and built steam under the final drive abroad that brought independence for both India and Pakistan in 1947.

Srimanti—that means Mrs. Vijaya—that is victory. Lakshmi—that is goddess. Her very close friends call her "Nan," possibly from the days when she was sort of governess to her younger sister.

It was the name she was rechristened with on her marriage May 10, 1921—a significant anniversary in Indian history—to R. S. Pandit, a Sanskrit poet, scholar and law student. He died in 1943. They had three daughters, Chandra Lekha, Narayan Tara and Rita Vitasta. Lekha and Tara were educated at Wellesley. All the daughters are now in India, wives of Indian government officials, and Mrs. Pandit sees her four grandchildren on frequent visits home.

She was born Aug. 18, 1900, the daughter of an Indian lawyer and patriot Motilal Nehru. She was a year younger than her brother Jawaharlal. Another sister, Krishna, was born seven years afterward.

The whole family joined in the Gandhi passive resistance movement, and all members served sentences for "civil disobedience" to the British at one time or another.

Once the family was rich by Indian standards. The girls had private tutors, they learned to ride, they had an English governess, they had a summer place, the family travelled abroad. She had a finishing school education in Switzerland.

Motilal Nehru's leadership and friendship with Gandhi, his prominence in the Indian independence movement, attracted all the leaders of India to their home. Swarup Kumari grew up in an atmosphere of patriotic rebellion to the English Raj. And when the price of patriotism ran high and the income low, the whole family went to austerity standards with calm acceptance of the fact.

Her marriage was promoted by Gandhi's private secretary, who knew Ranjit Pandit. Quite by accident—it is claimed—the wedding date, was set for the anniversary of the 1857 Indian revolt at Meerut. The concentration of Indian patriots for the Nehru - Pandit wedding rites at Allahabad May 10, 1921, spread sinister suspicions among the British civil service. There was no uprising then.

But in the '30s Gandhi's passive resistance campaign began to pick up pace. Liquor shops and foreign cloth shops were picketed. The lath charges by British and Indian government police began—those attacks with light wooden staves to break up demonstrations of Indians by the millions.

As by-products of these demonstrations, Mrs. Pandit went to jail in Lucknow for a year, the first time, Jan. 27, 1932.

In 1935, Mrs. Pandit was elected to the Allahabad Municipal Board, became its chairman of education. In 1936 she was elected to the Cawnpore - Bilhaus Rural Area Council, and in 1937 received another first: despite previous pledges not to collaborate with the British-dominated Indian government, she agreed finally to become the first woman cabinet minister, of local self-government, in the United Provinces.

In that post she extended her campaign for hospitals, playgrounds, milk depots, and nutrition betterment that had won her first notice in Allahabad.

Out of jail she was credited with rushing into demonstration crowds sometimes in the face of gun fire, to drag wounded to safety.

In November 1944 she left India to begin the campaign in San Francisco and in a whirlwind speechmaking tour throughout the United States helped bring the pressure that gave freedom to India.

She came back to the U.N. as the Indian delegation leader in 1946, first woman to head a U.N. delegation.

Mrs. Pandit, in her quiet way, is given to making declarations with a ring of prophecy. Then she told the world, that in addition to India, there must be freedom for Burma, the Dutch East Indies, Indochina and Malaya. The first two now are free, the third is chafing under its bonds with the French Union.

Less than a year ago she said:

"An imperative duty is placed on us, who represent the colored races of mankind, to remind this General Assembly that Africa and Asia are on the march and they will no longer accept the indignities imposed on them in the name of a white civilization. The demand today is for a human civilization based on the universal standards of the charter."

Man Saved by His Dog Succumbs in Florida

EUSTIS, Fla. (AP)—Herbert Jones, whose life was saved by his little dog Cocoa during a five-day ordeal, died last night.

The 63-year-old former New Yorker died of complications arising from the injuries he received when he broke his back in a fall from a tree he was pruning at his farm at nearby Pittman.

Jones related that while he lay paralyzed on the ground for five days last spring, Cocoa saved his life by relaying water on his tongue from a pail on the back porch. A pet black snake also kept him company.

Cocoa was killed by a motor car while his master was hospitalized.

Federation To Join Drive To Restore Independence Hall

A major porject of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs this year will be cooperating with other organizations here and throughout the nation in a movement to restore Independence Hall, it was announced today by Mrs. B. N. Salzman, Americanization chairman of the Federation.

Americanism also will be stressed by the organization and members are asking that all citizens of Marion and the community observe Constitution Day which is Thursday.

Cooperating with the Federation here are Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion and Captain William Hendricks Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. Other organizations are asked to join in the observance of the restoration program and also the observance of Constitution Day.

A proclamation calling on all people to "lend their full weight and support to the observance of Constituton Day-Citizenship Day, the anniversary of the ratification of that precious document which has kept us a free nation for these many years," has been issued by Mayor Harold F. Robinson. The proclamation calls attention to the resolution by Congress establishing Constitution Day, Sept 17 as Citizenship Day for the recognition, observance and commemoration of American citizenship.

The campaign for the restoration of Independence Hall will include an educational campaign emphasizing to every man, woman and child the debt owed to the founders of democracy and creating an appreciation of the great benefits derived under our constitutional form of government, Mrs Salzman states.

School children will be asked to participate in various ways and citizens as well as organizations will be asked to join in sponsoring the restoration project. Committees will be named in the near future the Americanization chairman states.

Canton Grocer Killed As Lacquer Explodes

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A bucket of paint lacquer exploded last night in a basement, killing R. Earl Studer, 64, and critically burning his wife, Bertha, also 64.

Firemen said Studer, a grocer, carried the lacquer into the celler of his home from a 50-gallon tank he stored in his garage. It exploded apparently when fumes reached a pilot light in a gas furnace.

Bulldog Meets Match, Takes on Helicopter

Past Has Good Points, Stable Owner Believes

ANDERSON, S. C., (AP)—This may be the atomic age, but M. C. Dickson of Anderson thinks the past had its good points.

Dickson and a partner are importing 11 saddle horses from North Carolina to open a livery stable.

"We're going to have several harness horses available along with buggies for those who wish to revive memories of the good old days, or who want to experience the thrill of driving a fine horse," Dickson says.

"This may sound old timey to some people," he admits, "but it's brand-new to a whole generation and a substantial portion of another one."

Surgeons Bolster Ailing Hearts by Extra Artery

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP) — Sick human hearts are made well and strong again by giving them an extra third artery, a Canadian surgeon said today.

Men crippled by heart attack, scarcely able to work, now are back at full-time work as oil well drillers, machinists, railroad workers and physicians, Dr. Arthur M. Vineberg, of Montreal, told an International College of Surgeons meeting.

The third artery brings life-saving blood to hearts starving because of blockage of one or both of the coronary arteries which normally feed the heart.

Heart attacks come because the coronary arteries harden and narrow, or are blocked by clots.

The dramatic operation takes an artery running through the chest and thrusts one end into a tunnel opened inside the heart muscles. The new supply of blood brings a new lease on life.

Vineberg is a lecturer in surgery at McGill University Medical School.

The third artery has been given successfully to eight out of nine men in the last three years, he said.

It can be done safely for any heart victim "who can walk 100 feet or more," he added.

It is not recommended for persons so ill that they have heart pains even when resting.

For the spare artery Vineberg uses the internal mammary artery which nourishes tissues in the chest. One end of this artery is permanently closed off.

The free end is placed inside a tunnel created by separating heart muscle tissue. The muscles are not cut. They close back, holding the spare artery in place.

Tests on animals show that the spare artery begins to grow within a week, sending out new branches. These apparently join up with smaller arteries in the heart muscle, and the blood coursing in from the spare artery is carried away in normal fashion.

The animal studies show that the spare artery within three weeks to a month is supplying enough blood to keep the heart alive even if one of the coronary arteries becomes completely blocked, Vineberg said.

Other blood vessels in the chest take over the job of serving the tissue formerly supplied by the mammary artery.

This artery is apparently singularly free from hardening such as affects the coronary and other arteries.

Vineberg said the oil driller now can hike 10 miles through brush country carrying a full pack. A machinist, unable to work 2½ years ago now can put in a 16-hour day when he wishes. A physician, victim of two heart attacks a year apart, now is back at his practice.

SHE'S 'GRATEFUL' FOR 'MIRACLE'. Evelyn Margaret Ay, the prettiest girl in the United States, tells New York reporters how she feels about winning the "Miss America" crown. "It's a miracle," she says, "and I'm grateful, but (later) I'm going back to my studies as a medical technician." The former "Miss Pennsylvania" stacks up with a 37-inch bust, 24 waist and 36 hips, has tawny hair and green eyes.

Plans To Welcome Dean Toned Down At His Suggestion

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Berkeley's "Welcome Home, Gen. William F. Dean!" Committee revised its plans today because the recently freed prisoner of war in Korea didn't want a big celebration.

Dean, a Red captive 37 months, is expected in about two weeks. He's in Tokyo under treatment for amoebic dysentery.

Chairman A. Lee Oder of the Dean Committee said a public reception would be scheduled after the general arrives, but a first-night-home banquet was cancelled.

Never-Ending Challenge

Fresh Problems Greet Each New Day

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — How do you start the day?

Each day is handed to us with a fresh cellophane wrapped around it and you have to tear open the wrapper to get at the new 24-hour candy bar it encloses.

Have you ever noticed at the beginning of some days how you have to make up your mind whether the cellophane is getting stronger—or you are getting weaker? But somehow the package of the day is harder to rip open.

There are so many of us who don't like to let go of today at midnight, just when we get to know it as a friend, and therefore are reluctant to greet tomorrow because it is a fresh stranger, and we have a lazy-like wish not to have to start life all over again.

We all have this problem together—soldiers, salesmen, housewives, business executives, scientists and dreamers. By the time most days have ended we have solved them somehow, and we would like to postpone for a pause the impossible solution of tomorrow.

There should be a day between each day, a longer magical night anyway in which to postpone the rushing dawn while a fellow utilizes the night to realize what he learned in the sunlight he has just been through.

We are bossed in our minds too much by the old, uneasy copybook dictum, "What you are to be you are now becoming."

Any way you look at this phrase, it is rather depressing. It raises a dismal prospect of a seedy, disgruntled, bald-headed future. Yes a future in which you face old age with paunch thrust bravely forward, one chin up, one chin down—and one chin saved to meet any other directional emergency. It is rather flabby vista.

They say (the people who write books on how to live life better) that it is childish to hate to go to sleep and hate to wake up. But for the average person it is such a normal thing. What's wrong with going to bed laughing and waking up with a yawn? Could anything be more normal?

When you have finally teased open the wrapper of one day finally got the nourishment inside, is there a law that requires you to arise early to attack the fresh cellophane wrapper around tomorrow? Perhaps you aren't hungry yet.

The way I like to look at a day is gradually, half an eye at a time. Some people like to leap up and take a brisk cold shower and think of all the golden deeds they are going to accomplish before the day burns out to black.

But so many mornings we awake to meet the same old dragons we never can altogether quell. Such as the crabgrass on our face we shaved by the previous dawn's early light. Overnight it has sprung up again.

And there are other daily problems. But who can blame one who on some days would rather lie there and wait a while and see if maybe he couldn't grow a dandelion upon his chin, watch it turn into a white puff and blow the seeds of dream around the room?

It may never happen, but it is a wonderful way to start a day.

You never know at dawn what will flourish by nightfall. To me the best moments of all are those in which you cheat duty between the time the alarm clock rings and the time you finally reach out a shuddering warm toe and brace it against the cold floor of responsibility.

Emily Dickinson said it best when she wrote in the last century:

"A day. A day. Help, help! Another day!"

It is probably the most honest line in the English language. Every one has felt that way, one time or another, and then got up and felt grateful for the sun.

New Guinea's greater bird of paradise noted for its magnificent and multicolored plumes is a cousin to the common crow.

DISCUSS STEVENSON'S PARTY FUTURE. In Chicago for the two-day Democratic Party rally, ex-president Truman and Adlai Stevenson shake hands before going into conference to discuss Stevenson's future role in the party. It is understood that Truman offered to back Stevenson if he will campaign for the 1956 presidential nomination but that the former Illinois governor refused to give him a definite answer.

3,000 U.N. POW's Unaccounted for, Van Fleet Claims

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet, former troop commander in Korea said Tuesday the Communists have not accounted for 3,000 or more prisoners—including his son.

The general's son, Capt. James A. Jr., has been listed among American servicemen believed being held secretly by the Communists.

"Mrs. Van Fleet and I naturally entertain great hopes that he might be reported and released," Gen. Van Fleet, former 8th Army commander, said on his arrival from Europe.

"I believe there are easily 3,000 U. N. prisoners who have not been accounted for and whom the Communists should know about—dead or alive—and the Communists should be held by the U. N. for strict accounting."

Van Fleet returned after a nine-day inspection tour in Korea for the American-Korean Foundation.

Local Temperature Coldest in State

Marion was the coldest spot in Ohio during the past week according to the figures of the Weather Bureau Office of the United States Department of Commerce in Columbus.

Temperatures in the Marion area were eight degrees below the seasonal normal for the week ending Tuesday. Temperatures in the Akron-Canton area and in Chillicothe were seven degrees below average, but no other city matched Marion's eight-degree figure

Below normal temperatures were reported over the entire state as a cold front moved in breaking the heat wave which had gripped the area for almost three weeks

During the week of Sept 9 to 15, more than one-half an inch of rain fell in the city. A total of 59 inches was reported. This was more than had fallen during the entire preceding three weeks

This rainfall was the highest recorded in the state Napoleon was close behind with 58 hundredths of an inch, while Delaware had an even one-half inch

The five day outlook for the state indicates that it will stay cool for a while. Temperatures are expected to be three degrees below normal until the weekend

Rotarians Hear Discussion on Charter Plan

Two Attorneys Explain City Operations Under Home Rule Program

Two Marion attorneys, Louis B Conkle and Bernard C. Moloney, presented a discussion on the home rule form of city government when they spoke before Marion Rotarians in their weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday at Hotel Harding.

Mr. Conkle, in explaining the "home rule charter plan," stated that that type of government surpasses a mayor-council plan in that the people elect the city council and the council in turn selects a city manager who is a professional administrator. He added, however, that this government makes the council liable to everything the city manager does.

The nomination and election of the council was explained by Mr Moloney. He told his audience the home rule government committee would nominate candidates for city council and each of the six wards in Marion would elect one councilman The remaining three then are elected by a total Marion vote.

Mr Conkle is associated with the firm of Guthery, Harmon and Conkle, and Mr. Moloney is with the firm of Moloney and Kelly.

Program chairman for the day was C H. Bachelder.

Visiting Rotarians at the meeting included Dr. W. S. Dietrich of West Shore, Pa., L. J Hammer of Casa Grande, Ariz , and George F. Leatherman of Findlay. A guest of the club was George Bundick of Upper Sandusky.

Student reporter from the senior English class of St. Mary Parochial School was Jack O'Keefe.

Harding, St. Mary Elevens Preparing for Openers

Prexies Play at Columbus, Irish Entertain Cardington

Harding and St. Mary grid squads are buckling down this week in prepping for opening football games this weekend. Pete Howison unveils his team Friday night at Columbus when the Prexies tangle with the West High School Cowboys. Ray Robbins' Irish will entertain Cardington Saturday night in the first Mid-Ohio Conference game.

HARDING

Harding's Presidents open their regular season against a team which downed the locals by a one-touchdown margin last season.

Ten lettermen return at Columbus West, but Coach Mack Pemberton has only two offensive men back from last year's squad. They are Doug Cole, an 170-pound fullback, and Tom Ongaro, 160-pound halfback.

Coach Pemberton moans the graduation of three men last year. Two of them, Jerry Trabue, an end, and Tom Thomas, a tackle, were all-state selections last season and are now enrolled at Ohio State. Also lost was Dick Orr, the 138-pound signal-caller, sparkplug of the team.

Pemberton says his team should be good but so far it has been poor. West lost its first regulation practice game but won two others, and Pemberton explains the only reason his team won was that the other teams were poorer.

After dropipng a 6-0 decision to Newark, West came back to trip Cambridge 27-12 and Grandview 14-0 The Cowboys scored 7-2 last year and finished second in the City League at 5-1.

West's line will come in at about 170 pounds to the man and the backfield at 160, slightly larger than Harding. Its defensive team will be about the same except for the backfield which will be lighter, averaging about 150 pounds a man.

Coach Pemberton named his starting lineup. Jim Vincent, 155, and Dana Deshler, 170, will be at ends and Jack Eppert, 175, and Jerry Horn, 178, will be the tackles. Guards will be Jim Johnson, 172, and Ronnie Dean, 174, while the center will be Bob Brownlee, 180.

Larry Nafzer, 150, will be at quarterback. Fullback will be Cole and Jim Ealy, 161, will be Ongaro's running mate at halfback.

Coach Pete Howison's Prexies will be out to keep on their winning ways. The locals defeated Newark High School 20-0 in a regulation preview game here last week.

ST. MARY

St. Mary will meet a much heavier Cardington team in the opening game of the new Mid-Ohio Conference formed last winter.

The Pirates' line will average 188 pounds per man while the backfield averages 154 pounds to the man. The visitors have two linemen who come in over 200 and another gridder who nears the mark.

Lettermen who will start are Paul Ruehrmund, 200, at tackle; Joel Shaffer, 198, at tackle; David Burgraff, 215, at center; Jim Snyder, 183, at guard; Noel Hack, 175, at guard; and Tom Conaway, 163, at end. Tom Fisher, 155, is another lettermen but will only be used on extra points. A halfback last season, he injured an eye in a game last year.

Earl Shaffer, 185, at an end completes Cardington's line James Curtz, 153, will be in the quarterback slot. Ralph King, 153, and Donald Waddell, 145, will be at the halfback posts and Dale Shaffer will run from the fullback slot.

Cardington is under a new coach this year. He is Ed Wolfe, a graduate of Defiance College. Wolfe was football and basketball coach at Waynesfield High School for five years prior to coming to Cardington.

His gridders have tasted action only once this season, in a preview at Mt. Gilead. Cardington and Mt. Gilead battled to a 0-0 tie last week in two eight-minute quarters of action. Coach Wolfe's team runs from both the T and single-wing formations.

Coach Dennis Bell piloted Cardington to a 7-2 season mark last year and Mid-Buckeye League championship. He is coaching at Washington C. H. this year.

The Irish will be battling to keep their slate clean this year. In the Fostoria Preview last week there, Coach Ray Robbins' team upset a much-heavier Fostoria High School club 7-6 in 16 minutes of action.

Welters To Clash In TV Boxing Show

CHICAGO (AP)—Alan Moody, regarded as one of Chicago's most promising welterweights since Barney Ross won the crown in 1934, will be at the crossroads of his whirlwind 21-months fighting campaign tonight.

Moody, winner of 26 of 27 bouts, will get his first test against a "name" opponent. He tangles with speedy Del Flanagan of St. Paul in a 10-round, nationally televised scrap in Chicago Stadium. It begins at 9 p. m., EST.

Moody is a Chicago Golden Gloves product managed by Sam Pian, who piloted Tony Zale and Ross to world titles. Ross will be in Moody's corner as a second.

The clever Flanagan, although only 24, is a veteran of 72 pro bouts He has won 62, lost eight and had two draws.

Georgia Tech Plans To Play 2 Grid Teams

By MERCER BAILEY

ATLANTA (AP) — Two-team football will replace two-platoon football at Georgia Tech this year.

Coach Bobby Dodd said today he believes that is the best answer, for Tech, anyway, to the rules change which ended the era of free substitution and defensive and offensive specialists.

Tech, defending champion in the Southeastern Conference and the second-ranked team in the nation last year, has the talent to make it work. In fact, after Dodd settles on his first and second teams, he will have enough good boys left for a third unit or for plenty of spot reserve strength.

Tech's starting backfield will be Pepper Rodgers at quarterback, Leon Hardeman and Billy Teas at halfback and Glenn Turner at fullback. They average 175 and, except for Rodgers, constitute the same fleet of footmen who held those posts on offense last year.

Larry Morris, a sensational linebacker, and Hardeman, whose tremendous power and shiftiness belie his squat frame, are Tech's prime All-America hopefuls this year.

"I plan to paly 22 boys as 11-man units," Dodd said.

"Actually these units will be my No. 1 and No. 2 teams in overall strength. They won't be specialized defensive or offensive units, so I plan to start my first team whether we kick off or receive."

Dodd said he is pretty well satisfied with the way his boys have made the switch to double-duty, but that he fears they will take a couple of lickings before the season is over.

Prexie Reserves Grid Opener Set Saturday

Harding High School officials today announced an eight-game reserve football schedule. First game on the slate will be played here Saturday against Mansfield The contest is scheduled for 10 a m. at the stadium.

Other reserve games are as follows: Sept. 24, at Galion, 4 p m; Oct. 3, Columbus West 8 p m.; Oct 10, at Fostoria, 10 a.m; Oct. 17, at Lima South, 10 a m., Oct 24, Findlay; Oct 31, open; and Nov. 7, at Mansfield.

The Oct 3 tilt against Columbus West will be Band Night. Members of the Harding Band will conduct their annual drive for funds. The Harding spokesman said an attempt is being made to reschedule the Mansfield game on Nov. 7. The date will be changed to avoid conflict with the Ohio State-Michigan State game at Columbus.

Double-M Grid Loop Opener at Waldo Friday

Action gets underway in the Double-M Six-Man Football League Friday but only one game is scheduled.

The lone game sends Johnsville to Waldo, new team in the league this year. It will be the regular season openers for both teams.

Johnsville, which took second spot in the league last year with 5-3 for the season, dropped a 13-6 game to Caledonia last week in the annual Double-M League preview. Coach Charles Ogg has four lettermen on the Johnnies' team.

Marengo, Claridon, Caledonia, Chesterville, Sparta and LaRue are idle. Action will be intensified next week when league games have Claridon at Marengo, Johnsville at Caledonia, Sparta at Chesterville and Waldo at LaRue.

Claridon and LaRue shared honors both in the preview and league last year but this year in the preview, LaRue edged Claridon 7-6. Chesterville dropped Marengo 12-0 in the other preview match.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching—Bob Lemon, Cleveland Indians, won his 20th game of the season, 1-0, over the repeating champion New York Yankees

Batting—Duke Snider, Brooklyn Dodgers, hit a two-run home run as a pinch hitter in the ninth inning, giving the Dodgers a 4-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals

10 Points Given Winner

Uniform Plan of Judging Fights Approved by NBA

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The National Boxing Association decided yesterday to sweep out the conglomeration of scoring methods used in the states affiliated with the NBA and adopt a uniform plan

Some 13 plans now are in use. The NBA's new scoring method, the one used in Minnesota, would replace them all, beginning Jan. 1, 1954.

The plan known as the "ten must" works like this:

The judges and referees give 10 points to the winner of a round, the loser can receive any number of points up to nine. For instance, in a one-sided fight, the winner will get 10 points and the loser as few as three or four. George Barton, of Minneapolis, retiring president of the NBA, said it's conceivable that the boxer losing the round could get less than that, but if it's that bad the fight should be called off."

Unless the bout ends in a knockout the winner is the one who gets the biggest total of points.

The Minnesota system was carried after the delegates rejected the Illinois plan wherby a round is split 5-5, 6-4, 7-3, etc.

New York, which is not a member of the NBA, but has a working agreement with the organization, had no representatives at the convention. But officials said New York boxing authorities will be notified of the action. The feeling of delegates was that the New York commission would go along with the new uniform system.

Winners of 300-Lap Race Will Receive Richwood Trophies

Trophies will be presented at Richwood Speedway Friday night to winners of the "Buckeye 300" stock car team race run last Friday night.

Joe Jones of Galion and Glenn Skinner of Prospect, driving as Team 3, won the race coming in four laps ahead of second-place winners Jim Church and Bob Hinaman of Delaware. Third place was won by Dick Decker and Bob Wisse, also of Delaware.

Seven events are scheduled Friday night beginning at 8.30. The track is at the Richwood Fairgrounds.

All 16 To Finish

Major League Managers Appear Safe for Season

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The 1953 major league baseball season looks as if it's going to be one of those rare years in which the 16 managers who started in April are going to finish in September.

Since they have survived this long it's unlikely that any of the skippers will be fired or quit with only a week and a half to go Post-seasons changes are another matter.

In only 10 other seasons dating back through 1901—the year the American League was organized—have one set of managers gone through the entire year. The last time it happened was 1947. Before that it was 1942.

Even this year didn't escape without strong rumors. In June the odds were strong that Rogers Hornsby, a familiar figure in mid-season changes wouldn't be around Cincinnati much longer Hornsby is still there although he hasn't been rehired for 1954.

A cellar-dwelling outfit early in the season the Redlegs picked up abruptly toward late June and the rumors of a sudden managerial switch died. The Reds now are in sixth place, two games behind the fifth place New York and three ahead of seventh place Chicago

They beat the giants 4-3 last night and get a chance to shave off another game today.

In other National League games yesterday and last night Philadelphia broke Chicago's 1 game winning streak with a 4-2 decision, Brooklyn edged St. Louis 4-3 on Duke Snider's two-run pinch hit homer in the ninth inning and Pittsburgh beat Milwaukee 7-5.

With the pennant pressure off Cleveland shaded the New York Yankees 1-0 as Bob Lemon won his 20th game. Chicago whipped Boston 6-0 in the only other American League contest.

Robin Roberts, who hit the 20 game victory circle back on Aug 12, won his 22nd game in stopping the Cubs.

Snider's home run, his 39th, gave Brooklyn its first victory since it clinched the National League flag Saturday.

Young Steve Kraly can't have a very high opinion of the hitting strength of the New York Yankees The Yankee Rookie has started two games and lost both on shutouts. He gave only four hits yesterday but the Indians put two of them together in the first inning along with a walk to score the one run they needed. Lemon now has won 20 or more games in five of the last six seasons.

Big 10 Squads Hit Bonanza Of Young Stars

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten has struck a bonanza of sophomore football players this season.

Out of more than 200 now competing in practices, at least 32 are considered exceptional prospects by coaches and 13 of these currently rank as starters.

The crop of fledglings is probably the best since the war, an Associated Press survey shows. By trudging on the toes of veteran lettermen for starting assignments, sophomores have given a healthy glow to Big Ten football in general

Illinois has six who rank as standouts, the largest group in the conference. Three of them have won their spurs as starters. Wisconsin, Iowa and Indiana each has four in the exceptional category.

Ohio State University gridders included on the all-star sophomore list are halfbacks Howard "Hopalong" Cassady, Columbus, 5-10, 177 who scored six TDs and lettered as a midterm freshman last year and Jerry Harkrader, Middletown, 5-9, 178, who is rated as the best running back since Vic Janowicz. Both are starters.

Among other Ohioans included on the list is John Lewis a Fremont star two years ago who played against Marion Harding High School and also made All-Ohioan. He plays at end for Michigan State this year.

Another is All-Ohioan two years ago, Calvin Jones of Steubenville who is playing at guard for Iowa this year.

Ohio State's traditional rival, Michigan, has a sophomore star hailing from Akron, quarterback Louis Baldacci, a son of former Akron University coach, Lou Baldacci.

Iberia Nine Scores No-Hitter Game in Baseball Opener

IBERIA — Eddie Stall and Dick Maidens teamed up to throw a no-hit ballgame here Tuesday as Iberia High School opened its 1953 fall baseball season against Whetstone.

Stall opened on the mound and pitched six innings. During that stint he whiffed 17. Maidens struck out the side in the seventh. The locals scored three in the first and four in the second. The only Whetstone run was scored in the second when Stall walked four batters.

The local nine was scheduled to meet Lexington here this afternoon

Feller Draws Starting Nod For Cleveland

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Bob Feller makes one of his infrequent appearances on the mound tonight as the Cleveland Indians open a two-game stand with the seventh-place Athletics. It may be his last start of the year.

Feller will be after victory No 9, and so will Marion Fricano, the Philadelphia hurler. Fricano has lost 10 decisions, Feller only six. The last time Feller started he won a six-hit, 4-1, game with Chicago in the second half of a twi-night doubleheader in Cleveland Sept. 5.

The Cleveland club left New York with an 11-11 record for the season, the best showing it has made in eight years. That was on the strength of a 1-0 shutout which put Bob Lemon in the 20-game circle again this year.

Al Rosen, stretching his consecutive game hitting streak to 11, and his runs batted in to 136, provided the winning punch in the first inning. Al Smith opened the contest with a walk, Bob Avila got an infield single, and a single by Rosen drove in the only run of the game.

The Yankee rookie pitcher, Steve Kraly, allowed the Indians only two hits after that inning. One of them was a single by Wally Westlake after Rosen and Larry Doby had walked. Rosen headed for the plate, but Doby was nipped at third for the final out, a second before Rosen could score.

Lemon has won at least 20 games in every season since 1948, except in 1951, when he dropped to 17.

Browns To Eye Three Packers, Let Bagdon Go

CLEVELAND (AP)—Bill Howton, Babe Parilli and Tobin Rote will get close attention from the Cleveland Browns in Saturday night's exhibition football game here with the Green Bay Packers.

Cleveland coach Paul Brown said he singled out those three Green Bay gridders because they 'do so many things on sheer, individual effort.'

The three are responsible for the Parkers' excellent air attack. Parilli and Rote divided the team's T-quarterback job and Rote performed at right end.

Together, Rote and Parilli completed 159 of 334 passes last year for 2,684 yards gained. Each hurled 13 touchdown passes, with Howton getting 13 of them.

Howton had an average gain of 23.2 yards per catch, proving, Brown said, that the end "knows how to go places once he gets that football."

Brown has asked waivers on Roy (Looney) Smith, tackle from Tennessee, and Ed Bagdon, guard who played for Michigan State and the Chicago Cardinals. That leaves the Browns with 39 players, six over the player limit.

Mike Garcia of the Cleveland Indians was nicknamed "Bear" by his teammates because his broad shoulders are sloped and rounded and his arms seem extra long.

Lattner Picked In Pre-Season Backfield Poll

NEW YORK (AP)—Notre Dame's versatile Johnny Lattner, who did everything well in the bygone days of specialists, is an over-whelming choice of the experts to win back-of-the-year honors in platoonless 1953.

Eighty-four sportswriters and broadcasters made it plain in an Associated Press poll to pick the nation's best backfield man in advance that Lattner is the perfect answer to limited substitutions. Lattner's nearest competition came from Minnesota's triple-threater, Paul Giel, named by 27 selectors. Both made the All-America team last year.

Right behind Giel in the balloting with 24 votes was UCLA's classy Paul Cameron, on whose shoulders rest predictions of greatness for the Bruins this fall. Georgia Tech halfback Leon Hardeman drew 12 nominations and Mississippi State's one-man offense, Jackie Parker, received nine

Other nominees for the back-of-the-year honors include Duke's Worth (A Million) Lutz, Ohio State Johnny Borton, Baylor's Jerry Coody and Michigan State's Tom Yewcic—each with six votes. Three ballots went to Steve Meilinger of Kentucky, Homer Smith of Princeton, Gene Filipski of Villanova and Buddy Leake of Oklahoma.

Toledo Wins First Test in Playoffs

By The Associated Press

Toledo, scoring sensationally on home runs, and Indianapolis, led by Sam Jones' four-hit chore, won their opening American Association playoff games Tuesday night.

Bill Queen and Luis Marquez slammed consecutive homers with two out in the last of the ninth to give the pennant-winning Sox a 4-3 victory over Louisville at Toledo. Bill Reed's two-run homer in the sixth accounted for Toledo's other runs.

At Kansas City, the Indians blanked the Blues, 3-0, behind Jones' hurling. He fanned six, walked one and allowed only four singles.

Eye Attendance Record

Diamond Season Finished? Not for Fans at Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP)—They're still nuts about baseball in Milwaukee, the home of the Braves.

All they did last night, with tail-end Pittsburgh as the attraction and the National League pennant race all buttoned up, was outdraw the rest of the league combined and come within 1,000 of equalling the paid attendance for the day in both circuits.

The gate at Milwaukee County Stadium was 32,145. Three other National League games — at St. Louis, Cincinnati and Chicago—drew 23,345 combined. Over in the American League the draw for games at New York and Boston was 9,800, making the five game total 33,145, exactly 1,000 over the figure here.

Just because Pittsburgh, 52½ games behind the champion Brooklyn Dodgers, beat the Braves, 7-5, had no audible effect on the crowd. Cowbells, horns and sirens were as much in evidence as they have been all year.

The fact is Milwaukee's fans are intent upon breaking the league attendance record and are right on the verge of doing it.

Right now, with three playing dates left, only 68,534 paid admissions are needed to wipe out Brooklyn's 1947 mark of 1,807,526. That averages out to 22,845.

HE'LL DO ANYTHING FOR A PRICE. This Korean ring leader called "The Seal," described as a quadruple amputee who will do anything for a price, is believed to be masterminding a dope smuggling ring operating out of Pusan. His agents also smuggled Pvt. John Galasso aboard a ship for a fee of $250. Galasso, the Army's AWOL champion, was able to slip 8,000 miles from Korea to his New Jersey home. The Seal, shown conducting business in his office, gets his name from the fact that his "arms" resemble flippers.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced today with a rush, the second straight upturn from the low of the year.

Gains at the peak of the advance extended to between 1 and 2 points at the outside, but stocks lost some of the buoyancy in later trading. A great many point gains existed, but few went past that level.

Volume was far more moderate than yesterday's 2,850,000 shares and ran around the two million mark for the entire day.

A great deal of yesterday's strength carried over into today's market. Heavy demand was present at the start of trading today.

Railroads, steels and motors were the most active of the major groups. Marching igher along with them were oils, coppers, chemicals, distillers, radio-televisions, and aircraft. The utilities were neglected but held quietly steady.

Advancing issues included Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, American Telephone, New York Central, Sinclair Oil, Union Oil of California, DuPont, Boeing, and radio Corp.

Fishermen No Longer Sail to Sea—They Fly

OAKLAND, Calif. (UP) — The rugged days of wooden ships and men of iron are a thing of the past in the fishing industry as more and more modern innovations are utilized—the latest of which is the airplane.

Approximately 180 commercial fisherman of the Bristol Bay Packing Company departed by Northwest Orient Airlines for the Bristol Bay, Alaska, commercial fishing season.

At the air port to see his men off was Matteo De Gennaro, boss of hte company's fishing operations. De Gennaro sadly shook his head as a plane left the ground and said he remembered the time 32 years ago when he first left home for the Alaska fishing grounds.

The trip, De Gennaro said, took from 35 to 40 days in his time, but now it's only about 12 hours—and the man can sleep during that time if they want to.
